

DC Housing Report Is Under Study

By FRANK LA PIERRE
The City of Daly City is expected to take up before mid-March the subject of housing — what type, where it should be located and when it should be built.

For several weeks, the city's Planning Commission has deferred action on the report put together by the Citizens' Advisory Housing Committee after 37 meetings spanning the past year.

City Planner John Walker, appointed to the Advisory Committee as a consultant, has asked that the city nominate an "outside" party to comment on the report.

According to a city staff member, Walker believes his comments on the Advisory Committee's report would be unfair, inasmuch as he helped draft it.

Therefore, the housing element segment to the General Plan, required by state law, must await comments from a staff study before the commission acts.

It is also expected that City Engineer David Macabee and City Manager David Rowe will register disagreement on some sections of the report.

Specifically, Macabee might oppose inclusion of a section in the report that asks for lowering building code requirements to decrease building costs.

Rowe, on the other hand, might oppose establishment of a housing commission, pointing up the fact that the city already has a City Council and a Planning Commission to review and carry out programs and policies of growth.

The Advisory Committee, which abolished itself after completion of the report on Feb. 5, 1973, was formed in January 1971 to evaluate the city's housing needs and how best to obtain certain goals in this direction.

It included representatives from minority, senior citizen and merchants groups.

During its 22-month lifetime, the committee took its meetings into various sections of the city to study firsthand housing in those areas and to solicit input from residents.

Charled by Edward Eastman, the committee suggested establishment of a Housing Commission as a wholly new agency and not as an extension of the Advisory Housing Committee.

Such a Housing Commission would encourage, foster and review programs and policies dealing with low income housing and how to use federally assisted housing programs.

It would also oversee public housing facilities once built, that are administered by the San Mateo County Housing Authority.

Another responsibility of the Housing Commission would be enforcement of the city's housing codes; rehabilitation or redevelopment under the auspices of the city's Redevelopment Agency; periodic review of building, electrical, plumbing and housing codes, and support of tax law changes providing write-offs for home improvements.

The far-ranging powers of the Housing Commission would also include creation of a landlord-tenant adjudication board to settle rent disputes between the two parties.

City Engineer Macabee responded to the committee's report with a two page memorandum of his own on October 29, 1973.

He called the lowering of construction costs through lowering of building standards "one of the most naive statements any public committee has ever made."

"As the cost of creating housing is either material or labor, there can be only one way to decrease the cost: Disregard safety for the resident," Macabee said.

Bill Wojkowski, assistant city planner, said the reason

Council Debates Dance Permit

All Calm Before Election

With only a week to go before three of their number come up for election, the Daly City City Council slipped quietly through its final regular meeting Monday night.

Next Monday, 24 hours before results of the election filter in to determine the next four years' seating arrangement, the council is expected to hold only a brief study session.

The hottest issue on Monday's regular agenda was a request for a dance permit to the Morning Glory Caterers, new leasees of the House of Parties, 22 Hillcrest Drive.

Lycett opposed the permit, pointing out that he had received "numerous complaints from merchants and residents" in the area about disturbances he believed were generated by the facility.

But Councilman McRobert Stewart said the city was "sadly lacking" in places where people could hold parties and dance. And "while I agree with Councilman Lycett on some of the statements," Stewart noted that with proper security there should be no repeat of problems that have arisen around the establishment in the past.

He also asked that the permit be reviewed in four to six months.

Councilman Paul Hupf said he did not think the financial burden of security guards at the dance hall should be put on any condition for issuance of the permit as was suggested.

The permit was granted in a three-one vote, with Mayor Anthony Giammona absent from the session.

On the subject of leasing a 2½-acre lot owned by Walter Prehn adjacent to the BART station and partially in San Francisco, the council gave the go-ahead to City Manager David Rowe to enter into a lease for $1,200 a month.

Councilman Hupf said the parking lot would not solve the parking problem, however. "I can't see any reason why we don't proceed with this."

Tied in with the disclosure that the city was negotiating for the lot, which will provide some 226 additional parking spaces for a nominal daily fee, was a petition signed by 40 of the some 67 residents along Niantic Avenue asking the city to put up restricted parking signs.

The new limit for parking in the Niantic Avenue area will be two hours.

Councilman Stewart asked that the city proceed with caution in placing these restricted parking signs for fear such restrictions "will just drive people into other city neighborhoods."

What should be done is provide alternate parking before such restrictions are imposed, Stewart said.

The council also approved a seven-story addition to Mary's Help Hospital.

The structure will be primarily for support medical services and will be linked to the main hospital structure by a foot bridge.

Off-street parking and improvements of San Fernando Way are included in the proposal, which is expected to get under way soon.

Design of the new structure will blend it into the hillside and will not obstruct views of homes in the neighborhood, it was understood.

Pacifica Neighborhoods

Street Improvement Hearing Scheduled

The Pacifica City Council voted to form an assessment district to pave 10 old streets, at an estimated $256,454 cost.

It set a hearing May 13 at which protests, if any, will be considered and final financial aspects will be approved. Councilmen adopted 12 resolutions Monday night, setting up the district, as well as appropriating $150,000.

Work is planned to begin July 13, and be completed Oct. 13.

Streets affected will be those in the oldest neighborhoods of Pacifica — rural streets that were built in three of the tiny villages that sprang up along the old Oceanside Railroad, shortly after the San Francisco Earthquake.

According to the plans the street improvement program will depart from the standards of the conventional suburban street improvement project — where the city normally runs a street of two standard lanes, parking lanes, curbs, gutters and five-foot sidewalks, all as straight as possible.

In this program, engineer Andy Keval had the help of a study, "Development of Standards for Neighborhood Streets," financed for Pacifica through grants from the Office of Traffic Safety and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. De Leuw, Cather & Co., an engineering firm, produced the study after Project Mgr. Robert M. Barton conducted studies and talked to many local residents.

Most of the street projects will be in West Sharp Park, a block from the ocean.

A major problem here was to protect the half-century old Monterey Cypress. On some streets, two-lane pavements will be curved from side to side so as to avoid the towering trees. On other streets, parking bays will be placed between the trees, and the curbs run around the trees. At some places, new trees to be planted to complement the present ones.

Barton showed a much more flexible view toward sidewalks than engineers customarily have shown in the past. In some spots, he recommended stairs, some of which would be installed on unused street rights of way. Other sidewalks would resemble park paths, so as to preserve the rural look, in places where desired by the property owners.

The main object is to obtain — wherever possible — a minimum of a two-lane stretch of pavement, with decent drainage.

An assessment district plan, with many of the same streets, was approved by the City Council last summer, but fell through when the council threw out all bids, as too high. The intention then was to bring the matter to bid again in a few months, but so many engineers had resigned at the same time that the city was plagued with more urgent problems, that the project was delayed.

In addition, it was decided that the petitions by which the districts were created were getting old, so that new petitions, containing names of many newcomers to the area, were drawn up. Keval has been attending many neighborhood meetings, in an attempt to obtain signatures, as well as the backing of the residents and their approval of the street designs.

Property owners will be charged $10 a running foot; the city will pay the rest, from gas tax funds. The actual cost, if the property owner paid it all, would run from $15 to $40 a front foot.

West Sharp Park streets to be improved include either all or parts of Paloma, Mon-

Battle Is Won, A Little Late

For the past several years Mrs. Florence Silveira argued with the Jefferson School District.

First it was over some students at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School who got careless and accidentally hurled a few rocks through her windows.

Next, the district's fence, erected to keep the students away from her home at 744 Stewart St. Broadmoor, toppled down the slope into her yard.

Finally, in September of last year, water began flooding her backyard.

Mrs. Silveira argued the water came from the school property. The district countered it did not. But the JESD agreed to look into the matter.

Last week, the staff reported to the school board that a recent on-site study of the issue by the County Engineer's Office suspected a faulty roof drain for causing excessive runoff onto Mrs. Silveira's property.

They recommended a sump pump and land drain tiles be installed and the school roof fixed to prevent flooding.

After all those years of fighting — over the rocks, broken windows, fences and flooding — Mrs. Silveira wasn't around to hear the school board instruct its staff to initiate repairs.

She died Feb. 16.

A 36 Per Cent Turnout For Election Predicted

Daly City City Clerk Mrs. Anna Ohlendorf predicted a 36 per cent turnout in Tuesday's municipal and special Jefferson Elementary School District elections.

The city has 79 precincts, consolidated to 39 voting polls.

There are 26,528 registered voters in the municipal elections. Polls will be open between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. with absentee ballots (there are slightly more than 100 such ballots out) counted shortly after official closing of the polls at 8 p.m.

Six candidates are vying for three seats on the council.

Terms of office are for four years.

It will be incumbent Councilman McRobert Stewart's second term, while Councilman Bernard J. Lycett will be running for his third full term.

Councilman Victor Kyriakis was appointed to replace Louis J. Papan when the latter won election to the State Assembly two years ago.

Kyriakis was previously on the city's Planning Commission.

Often volunteer posts on city government have been stepping-stones to elected political office in Daly City.

Superior Court Judge Frank Blum was once city attorney, and City Atty. Albert Polonsky was once the city's mayor.

Stewart was, like Kyriakis,

San Bruno City Council

Tackling Pacifica's 'Errors'

By BOB PETERSON

The City of Pacifica, it appears, was presumptuous to suggest to the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) that the coastal city ought to have control over vacated Coast Guard lands and property occupied by the San Francisco County Jail, both near San Bruno.

This, at least, is the impression one gets after reading the "sphere of influence" study prepared by the San Bruno Planning Department and presented to the City Council Monday night.

The study, after review by the council, will be sent to LAFCO as the city's position.

"Pacifica's sphere of influence report has been reviewed and a number of statements have been found to be amazingly incorrect," states the San Bruno report.

"Without being overly critical of that study, this report (of 14 pages) will correct certain errors or misunderstandings.

"The term 'sphere of influence' refers to unincorporated areas," continued the San Bruno report. "Pacifica's report indicates that portions of the City of San Bruno are within their sphere of influence. This is not correct."

After noting that San Bruno has made presentations to LAFCO "during the past five years indicating our sphere of influence," the report presented what was called "a strong case" to reiterate that nothing has changed.

LAFCO has indicated it would not act on the sphere of influence matter until after both cities have met and proposals by both cities have been received by that agency.

In a memo to the council, planning director Jack Mulqueeny said the staff will meet with Pacifica "to discuss the objectives of both cities."

In a summary of reasons why San Bruno ought to have any future jurisdiction, the San Bruno report said:

- Most storm waters from this area flow into San Bruno storm drains.
- Existing sanitary sewer lines in San Bruno are adjacent to subject property.
- Sneath Lane provides direct access to the property from San Bruno.
- San Bruno firemen have 100 per cent greater capability of providing water on a fire than Pacifica.
- A San Bruno fire station is two-thirds of a mile from this property as compared to more than three miles for the nearest City of Pacifica fire station.
- San Bruno police officers regularly patrol the periphery of subject lands.

The report stated that "sense of identity" is important. "Although the Coast Guard property will remain in public ownership, the jail site may be developed for residential use," stated the report.

"These future residents would have a 'sense of community' with residents of Pacifica Heights and Portola Highlands in San Bruno."

According to the report, putting the jail site in Pacifica would create "a degree of frustration similar to that which certain San Bruno residents (now) feel by their being within the Pacifica-based Laguna Salada School District."

On the sewage issue, the report stated, "Pacifica can offer primary treatment only. San Bruno has a high quality primary and secondary treatment plant, plus a long outfall."

As to the water situation, the report stated, "the nearest water line operated by North Coast Water District (in Pacifica) is a considerable distance away and pressure is such that it cannot directly feed this area."

Access to the property even from Pacifica, it was pointed out in the report, would be "direct from San Bruno's College Drive and Sneath Lane," and that "it is apparent that all access to these parcels is from existing San Bruno streets."

The 100 per cent "greater capability" of providing water on a fire was explained by the fact Pacifica has a two-man crew, one to handle the truck and the other the hose, whereas San Bruno responds to that area with three men, one for the truck and two — or 100 per cent more — for the hose.

It also was noted in the report that the jail now uses San Bruno for first response in event of a fire.

The financial capabilities of the two cities was compared, showing that San Bruno, with less than half Pacifica's tax rate, had more than three times the taxable sales and could thereby better support more residential uses.

"The City of San Bruno will inherit the problems resulting from urbanization of this property regardless of the city who controls it," stated the report.

It was pointed out that San Bruno's existing R-E (Residential Estates, a la Hillsborough, Atherton or Woodside) zone "will protect the scenic qualities of this land once the area is officially placed in San Bruno's sphere of influence."

"The city of San Bruno would prefer that subject property be retained in an open space use, or as a regional recreational facility," continued the report.

"If so, San Bruno deems the property would be best left unincorporated. Further in the report, it was stated, "If this property were developed as a part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, both cities and the county would benefit."

Above all, according to the report, "any statements that property is much closer to Pacifica's source of services should be examined by LAFCO personnel intensively."

And if the land does go to San Bruno, the report stated Pacifica "would be given considerable opportunity to review proposals and submit critiques and or comments to the San Bruno Planning Commission."

Council Supports Jail Study

Pacifica city councilmen backed a study recommending that the present site of the San Francisco County Jail and the U.S. Coast Guard Station should be placed within the "sphere of influence" of Pacifica, at their Monday night session.

The study had been made by the Pacifica Planning Commission, at the request of the county's Local Agency Formation Commission. The jail and Coast Guard Station are on unincorporated land between Pacifica and San Bruno.

Should LAFCO place the land within Pacifica's sphere of influence, Pacifica would have planning jurisdiction over the land and probably would annex the land. Should development not be planned, the land might remain unincorporated officials said.

The Pacifica Planning Commission had voted to approve the recommendation of their staff, that Pacifica should receive the sphere of influence.

The City Council voted that a subcommittee of two councilmen be appointed to confer with members of the San Bruno City Council to analyze, investigate and recommend how to divide the sphere of influence.

The sphere of influence report stated that the lands, except for a part of the jail property, fall within the watersheds of Pacifica and the San Francisco Fish and Game Refuge.

teccio, San Jose, Santa Rosa, Salada and Santa Maria. In east Sharp Park, only Moana and half of Lunetta will be improved. One street in Rockaway Beach, Matland Avenue, and one street in Pedro Point, Stanley Avenue, will be paved.

Verona Avenue in the Valle mar neighborhood was dropped, as were efforts to add more Vallemar streets, including the famed Reina del Mar. However, a number of street projects were added in order to make the project large enough so as to reduce the cost per square foot.

Even if the project is successfully carried out, Pacifica's original villages will still contain streets that are pot-holed, muddy, and otherwise inadequate. Some residents prefer it that way but city authorities hope that the project will mark the beginning to an end of most of Pacifica's four miles of unpaved streets.

DC Council Correction

On Feb. 20 in an article in The Post about the city council election in Daly City it was stated that one of the candidates, Lawrence Murray, is president of the Daly City local of the American Postal Workers Union.

The statement was in error. Murray held that position at one time but has since left the postal service and is presently a law student.

takis, a member of the Planning Commission.

Councilman Paul Hupf was formerly on the council, appointed to the city attorney's post, resigned to become a municipal judge and was elected two years ago to the City Council after resigning from the bench.

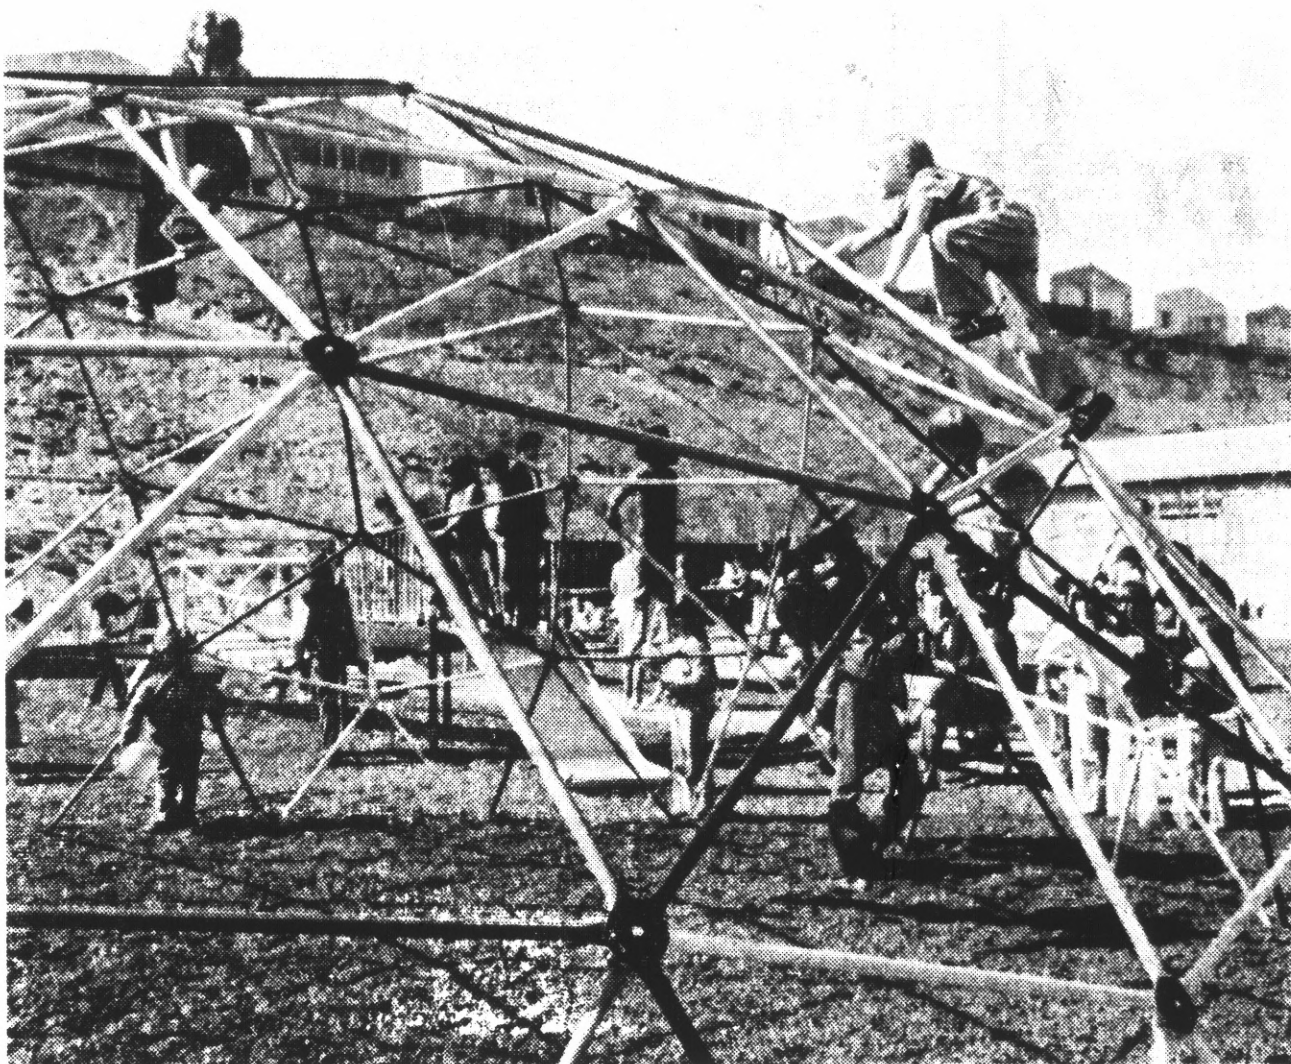

The council has also been a launching pad for higher public office.

Both Daly City Councilmen Bob St. Clair and the late Joe Verducci went on to become San Mateo County Supervisors.

Challengers in this year's race are the Rev. Ray Howard, law student Larry Murray and Atty. William Schumacher.

City hall watchers say about 4,500 votes will put a candidate at the top of the elected list.

They base this on the fact that in 1970 — the last time three seats were up for grabs — there were 10 candidates, a 39.7 per cent voter turnout, and Lycett led the pack with 4,498, followed by Papan with 4,089, and Stew-

S.S.F. Planners Reject Sam's Sign Request

The appearance of Sam's Charbroiler would have been enhanced by replacing the restaurant's old sign, according to Fred Lauderdale of the Federal Sign and Signal Co. The South San Francisco Planning Commission denied the request, however, because the Coca-Cola would have been included.

Coca-Cola would have appeared on the 51 sq. ft. sign, because "that company would be furnishing it," Lauderdale said.

"For the owner to have a sign which would complement his business and the building would be beyond his means."

He estimated that a 3 foot by 18 foot sign without outside advertisement would cost about $3,000.

"In order to have a decent sign," Lauderdale said, "anything the owner could afford to put up would be so miniscule it would not do him any good."

The decision was based on the findings by the Architectural Committee. City Planner Neal Martin said, "The construction of the sign requested would tend to dwarf the existing structure and would tend to change the entire appearance of the structure without improving the appearance."

He said, "The sign primarily would be designed to advertise products and commodities and not the nature and type of the business established," he said.

Two years ago there were two seats open with eight candidates running and a voter turnout of 35.2 per cent.

Mayor Anthony Giammona won with 4,700 votes, followed by Hupf who edged out Schumacher by a mere 56 votes.

In both the 1970 and 1972 races there was one vacant seat resulting from retirement of a councilman.

Also, in the past four years some 3,000 registered voters have been added to the population.

In Pacifica 10 candidates are running for three seats on the City Council. They are Stan Farber, incumbent; Fred Howard, Janice Fulford, Virginia Jaeger, Warren Gabrielli, Kitty Bouly-Wilson, William Richardson, Sydney Loran, May Gee and Peter Murray.

In South San Francisco, four candidates are running for two seats. They are Patrick Ahern, incumbent; William Borba, Incumbent; Leo Pedreddi and Richard Battaglia.

Pacifica Candidates 'Peddle' Platforms

Bill Richardson expressed surprise at "all a candidate has to do to get on the City Council... is spend the most money, and hold the most garage sales."

Candidates for the Pacifica City Council got an opportunity to peddle their platforms at a Candidates Fair Thursday night at Oceana High School.

The fair, sponsored by Pacific Telephone Co., had the candidates stationed at booths decorated with posters, balloons, bumper stickers and pins. Visitors were able to question candidates at their booths after all of them gave a formal presentation.

Virginia Jaeger said she was the most qualified person running, having resided in Pacifica for 16 years. She cited her work on the incorporation committee, and her attendance of virtually every city meeting in her duties as a newspaper reporter.

"I feel the present City Council has become a self-serving unit. People coming to them are turned off. You bring a problem to them, and you find that no one is listening."

Pacifica needs more "future planning," to attract compatible businesses, and more "listening to the people," she said.

Fred Howard, former Parks, Beaches and Recreation chairman, announced that Pacifica should build no additional parks unless it can obtain more federal money. He stressed the need to "go out and get more businesses."

He said it would be wrong to take money away from the fire and police departments in order to build more parks.

"I've pushed for parks — but when you're on the council, you must look at the overall picture."

Stan Farber, sole incumbent in the race, claimed that "they're all out to get Stan Farber."

The major issues, he felt, were:

A positive approach to the city's problems.

Experience vs. very little experience or knowledge of city government.

Being able to stand up under fire.

A fair and open government.

Kitty Bouly-Wilson cited her 28 years as a resident of Pacifica.

"I have seen our taxes go up and our city grow poorer."

The council has been amiss, she averred, in not bringing more business to Pacifica. She also said she wanted to expedite the Devil's Slide bypass, expand Freeway 380 to Pacifica, and provide a citywide transit system.

Expressing concern over Proposition 20's coastal controls, she urged that an industrial park be encouraged to provide needed taxes, as well as jobs.

Warren Gabrielli cited "the burning issue of the day — who is Warren Gabrielli?" He answered: a lawyer, a war veteran, a father and a rockhound, among other things.

He urged efforts to unify the city, which he said is still fragmented.

"It's time for us to stop the notion," Sidney Lorvan declared, "that if we build enough houses, someone would come along and provide us with a tax base."

This country, he declared, was settled by "godfearing people." He felt that the flag should be honored, and that the words "under God" should not be taken out of the pledge.

"The real issue," he said, "is how the candidate feels about you as a human being, with your own needs and hopes."

May Gee cited her 19-years as owner of a Pacifica restaurant.

Citing her dozen years on the Planning Commission, she declared, "I would like to see my long experience put to use."

She declared the Freeway 380 "is not dead" because San Mateo County has $97 million allocated to it in freeway funds. The 380 intersection with the Coast Road would cost $55 million, and the freeway to Skyline would cost $17 million more, she said.

"After what the state has spent elsewhere in the county, I don't think that's too much to spend for our needs."

There has been constant change, Janice Fulford noted, but Pacifica's councils have shown none for the last 15 years.

"The councils have backed all growth — no matter how low a quality."

She blamed the city's precarious financial state on the city approving developments that were "break-even propositions."

Missing from the galaxy of candidates was Pete Murray.

After their talks, the candidates retired to their booths, where they discussed various points raised in their presentations.

Fulford was heard explaining to a young couple who seemed to favor 380 that the freeway would be more likely to draw people out of Pacifica, rather than in. Its interchange would cut through Pacifica's prime level ground for industrial or commercial use.

Farber denied assertions by supporters of another candidate that the 4th vote against Rockaway Highlands meant that the council was out of touch with the people.

"We weren't voting on the same thing," he declared. "The voters did not realize, for instance, that the project won an architectural award for innovative design, or that completion of Oddstad and Fessler Boulevards would drain traffic to the east instead of the west."

Howard explained to a knot of listeners that Pacifica had more parks than they thought, and that a major city park, Frontierland, was under construction. He urged that the buses which the city was obtaining be used to run patrons to the various parks.

A woman, who said she lived in Pacifica for only a few months, told Gabrielli that the fact that he had resided in Pacifica for only three years should not stand in his way.

"Sometimes a fresh viewpoint is needed," she told him, and he agreed.

JUDGE AND FRIENDS — James O. Miller, center, receives some judicial advice before being officially sworn in Friday as the county's newest Municipal Court judge. Judge Miller, appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to succeed Walter Capaccioli on the Northern District Municipal Court Bench, was administered the oath of office by Superior Court Judge Frank B. Blum, left. Judge Charles Becker, also a Municipal Court judge in the Northern District, was master of ceremonies for the swearing-in program attended by some 200 persons in the Hall of Justice in Redwood City. ## Contract Dispute At JHSD

The low bidder on an addition to the Serramonte High School in Daly City wants to withdraw, but the Jefferson Union High School District is balking and now awaits legal advice from the district attorney's office.

The Jasper Construction Co., of Santa Cruz, submitted a low bid of $1,370,400 for the job on Feb. 14. But in a letter received by the district in Daly City the next day, company president Werner Jasper asked that the bid proposal be withdrawn.

Jasper stated that a "serious clerical error" had been made prior to the bid time in totaling our bid.

With the letter came several documents, including what he said was a copy of a tape "showing what our bid would have been had the clerical error not been made."

Werner said there was a $200,000 error in the final computation of his bid.

The next lowest bid came from the Robert D. Moore Construction Co., of Burlingame, $1,548,100.

District Supt. Edward D. Morgan, in asking the district attorney's office for legal advice, stated:

"Our district, in good faith, advertised for bids and followed correct legal procedure concerning this matter. We have been following a specific schedule concerning proposed construction at Terra Nova High School, Oceana High School, Serramonte High School, and possible land acquisition and site development at Thorn-ton High School."

"We will be opening bids on our Terra Nova project on Feb. 28, and, at that time, we will review and prepare construction recommendations for the Board of Trustees."

Morgan said he thought the district might leave itself open for a possible taxpayers suit if it allows Jasper to withdraw

In South San Francisco four candidates are running for two council seats this year. No response has been received from incumbent William A. Borba, 524 Spruce Ave.

Incumbent Patrick E. Ahern, 57, of 51 Capay Circle is a real estate salesman. He has served as mayor, councilman, chairman of the North County Council of Mayors, as an alternate for the Local Agency Formation Commission, Regional Planning Committee, Airport Land Use Committee.

Ahern's statement: "South San Francisco met the challenge of residential, industrial and commercial growth and the strain of political change.

"We are now gathering momentum for a strong advance in capital improvements to meet the city's needs for many years to come. I have enjoyed the privilege of working with the councilmen and employees as this city responded to the past demands and have a strong desire to contribute to the momentum for future advances by drawing on past experiences. In addition all units of government today face a critical period of reevaluation and rededication to principle and to restore public confidence.

"I believe that my experience and desire to serve will enable me to assist in returning that confidence."

Leo Padreddi, 43, of 217 A St., is president of the South San Francisco Unified School District Board and is a senior special investigator for the state of California. He is a member of the San Mateo County Committee on School District Boundaries. Padreddi has served on the school board for nine years. He holds a Peace Officer's Standard Training certificate and has FBI training during his 20 years in law enforcement.

Padreddi's statement "I am announcing my candidacy, as an independent, for City Council. As a native born South San Franciscan, with 20 years of law enforcement experience, formerly as a local Police Officer, and currently a Senior Special Investigator with the State of California, a school board member for nine years and at this time board president, member of the San Mateo County School Board's Association, and active in many other com-

Battaglia's statement: "South San Francisco is my home and I want it to be the best possible place in the world to live. That is why I feel it is essential there be a change in the local government of South San Francisco. All we've seen in recent years are bickering among two factions, indecisiveness on important problems facing the city and costly procrastination. I feel the time has come for a positive approach to be made. "I am an independent candidate rather than the negativism dictated to no one that has prevailed. Let's but the people of South San make decisions based on the Francisco. I have proven my issues rather than on person-desire to serve by giving alities of factions. The count-time on various boards and cil has lost the respect so committees. # Oyster Point Project Gets Green Light

South San Francisco City Council Feb. 19 voted, 4-0, with one abstention, to accept the $60,000 feasibility study prepared by Williams-Kuebelbeck & Associates Inc., on expansion of Oyster Point Marina.

The council action gives the city staff the green light to seek a $6 million, 30-year loan from the California Department of Navigation and Ocean Development.

Councilman William Borba sought unsuccessfully to have the report held over to the next meeting, so he could read it. However, Councilman Patrick Ahern and various staff members pointed out that should the council not submit its application by June 30, it would be another year before the city could obtain its construction loan. The delay could result in the need for higher berthing fees, they said.

Ahern assured Borba that accepting the report will not preclude him from asking critical questions at following meetings.

The report was presented by a battery of experts, led by Larry Williams, representing Williams-Kuebelbeck & Associates Inc.

The plans show an addition of 317 slips built on an extension of filled land which now contains the present 283-slip harbor. The resultant 400-berth harbor would make South San Francisco as large as the Berkeley yacht harbor, largest on the bay.

The expansion plans also show two major dinner-restaurants, coffee shop, ship's chandlery, and a gift-shop area. In addition, the charts showed a 40 to 50-person fishing pier out at the end, picnic area, dry boat storage, boat repair yard, boat sales office, and an excursion boat dock — all contributing to the city's income.

The area — created from a former city dump by the use of bay fill — would include a network of pedestrian and bicycle paths.

Dan McNichol, financial expert for Williams-Kuebelbeck, estimated the cost of the expansion at $3.5 million, plus $1 million more for replacing the present wooden slips with concrete slips. To this, a 10 per cent increase in costs is added in for each year, as a contingency.

It is planned to perform the actual construction work during 1976-77 and 1977-78, and to update the present marina area by 1980.

The study has a plan showing 400 additional slips, two more restaurants, and an additional park, to be built on the privately-owned Healy-Tibbitts property to the north, but it was pointed out that at this time the third-stage expansion appeared only marginally feasible.

The present harbor was completed in 1963. The berths are at full occupancy, with a long waiting list.

The Oyster Point Yacht Club has become one of the leading community organizations in South San Francisco, with 183 members.

Skyline College Names Dean's List Students

A total of 463 Skyline College students made the Fall 1973 semester Dean's List by completing courses which earned them a 3.0 (B) grade point average. Dean of Students James C. Wyatt announced.

These students will be the guests of the college at a special reception Feb. 20, at 11 a.m. in the college's Faculty Dining Room (Bldg. 2, room 323).

Fifteen San Mateo County and neighboring communities were represented in the total list with Pacifica leading the number with 107 honor students. Other cities included Daly City, 99; San Bruno, 86; South San Francisco, 83; San Francisco, 24; Millbrae, 16; Burlingame, 14; Colma, 11; San Mateo, 8; Brisbane, 5; Foster City, 3; Half Moon Bay, Belmont, and Redwood City with 2 each; and San Carlos 1.

POLICE OFFICERS COMMENDED — Daly City police officers were commended by Mayor Anthony Giamonna (seated center) last week for various acts of bravery in line of duty. Four of the officers were participants in apprehending three alleged robbers at the First National Bank of Daly City without firing a shot, while three others apprehended fleeing robbery suspects of a South San Francisco supermarket in a wild, high speed chase and shoutout in Daly City. The officers were cited for their bravery. They are (from left) Robert Vogt, Stephen Powell, Donald Cubic, Robert Sola, Thomas Barner, Tino Salzano and Frederick Holewinski. Sola, Vogt and Powell were involved in the arrest of alleged robbers. Councilman Victor Kyriakis stands in center.

Crime Rate Said Down In County

In a reversal of the trend of the past several years, the number of major crimes in the unincorporated area of San Mateo County dropped during 1973. Sheriff John R. McDonald Jr. reported Friday.

The total crime rate is down four per cent, but the burglary crime rate has dropped by six per cent, a factor which the sheriff attributes to the federally-financed Crime Specific Burglary Prevention program in effect since last April.

"We're especially pleased that we have been able to reverse the trend in burglaries," McDonald stated.

The number of reported burglaries in the county's unincorporated area dropped from 2,272 in 1972 to 2,137 last year, the sheriff noted.

He attributed the drop to special burglary patrols and the burglary prevention program, which includes providing educational information to the public as to how to secure homes and to place identification numbers on valuable household appliances.

The federal grant $170,000 for a 15-month period — also has permitted utilization of manpower on concentrated burglary investigation and recovery of stolen goods, the sheriff said.

"The credit goes to the deputies on the street and to the investigators," McDonald stated. "It's like a company making a profit. This (lower burglary rate) is where our profit is."

Unemployment Rate Increases

The unemployment rate in San Mateo County has increased from 5.4 per cent to 7.8 per cent during the past two months and may go higher, County Manager M. D. Tarshes said last week.

He is recommending to the Board that the county apply for $2.7 million in federal revenue sharing funds to develop a comprehensive manpower training program. Tarshes said the funding, to be coordinated by the county, would provide subsidized employment, pre-vocational guidance, institutional training and on-the-job work experience for approximately 2,650 county residents.

To do this, the county manager reports, would require the board to notify the U.S. Department of Labor of the county's intent to become a prime sponsor.

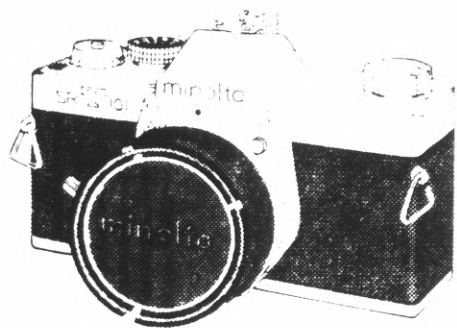

Tarshes also is asking that he be authorized to prepare a resolution establishing a Manpower Planning Council, and to hire a typist-clerk and two administrative analysts.

LET'S KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

This is the second response by the Citizens for Fair Play in Politics to allegations, inaccurate statements and outright fabrications concerning how Daly City is being governed by its councilmen. It appears that every candidate in the Daly City council race has instant answers for perplexing problems that haunt the city under today's administration. The truth is: there are no immediate solutions. The sad facts are: many of the problems have been distorted by a few that have personal axes to grind.

STORY: After countless years of flooding in the Garden Valley district of Daly City, the problem still exists and the council and City staff are still running circles in their misguided approach to solving it.

FACT: Both the Garden Valley and Westlake sections of the city have suffered flooding in recent years, primarily because of recent developments, either in the BART area or San Bruno Mountain area. The Council after studying the problem, decided to levy a special five cent storm drain tax ON ALL CITIZENS. Cost of the two projects totaled almost $400,000, with the bulk of this going for the Garden Valley District.

SAN MATEO county supervisors approved their portion of the line from Daly City through Colma to Colma Creek. However, because of delays on the County's part, Daly City's section was completed first. Had the County started on schedule, both would have been working today to alleviate the flood problem. The El Portal Star, drain through Westlake Estates, was completed February of 1972 at a cost of $95,000.

STORY: Despite strong community resistance, the City Council gave the go-ahead three years ago for Redevelopment in the City, wasting taxpayer's money and manhours.

FACT: Citizens committees and sub-committees were formed to provide input into a Redevelopment study. Without this study the City would not have had the foggiest idea of where it was going: whether the Redevelopment or rehabilitation concept was acceptable. When merchants indicated they favored redevelopment and when the residential sector decided it did not want redevelopment, the Council adopted new project boundaries eliminating residential and encompassing only commercial districts. Far from being wasted, the money was well spent in showing the City the path it must travel in revitalizing the Mission Street-Juniper Serra Boulevard business districts as a means toward broadening our tax base. A wider tax base means continued stability on property taxes.

STORY: San Bruno Mountain was a "sure thing" to come into Daly City, but the Council wallowed in indecision and "lost" the mountain to Brisbane.

FACT: If there was indeed any "vacillating," as one uninformed source would have us believe, it was because Daly City's 70,000 residents might be hit with a hefty tax rate hike IF WE GOT THE MOUNTAIN DEVELOPMENT AND DID NOT GET THE CROCKER INDUSTRIAL PARK. The Park is needed to provide the tax base for the planned residential community on the mountain. If we have to absorb the police, fire, and other support facilities for such a mountain development, the City should get the taxes provided by the industrial park. It's merely a "dollar and sense" effort on the part of the Council and City Staff.

DALY CITY is San Mateo County's second largest city. It has a stable growth pattern and is considered a well-planned community, a community we are proud to live in and to have our children grow up in. If it were not for the dedication of our government representatives we would not today enjoy an almost non-existent bonded indebtedness, reasonable garbage service, excellent sewage system, innovative street maintenance program, expanding recreational facilities, a climate where street crime does not strike terror in our heart's every time we leave the house.

WE, THE Citizens Committee for Fair Play in Politics, want these facts brought to the people of Daly City. And we want the facts, and not innuendo and false statements, to dictate what action we will take when we go to the polls on March 5 to cast our votes. Frankly speaking we think Bernard J. Lycett, Victor Kyriakis and McRobert Stewart have been honestly and fairly representing the people of this community. That's why on March 5th we will vote for these three councilmen.

'We bend to the will of the people'

Thus said members of the City Council of Daly City, after two years of controversy, when they voted to spare the residential areas of the city from redevelopment. We thank them for this act and we sincerely hope the statement above will serve to bring a new day to Daly City.

Daly City can and should be a happy and beautiful city. It already has a great many advantages over other cities of the Peninsula. All that is lacking to make it the earthly paradise it should be is an awakened citizenry who take an interest in how the city is run. Daly City has been a "bedroom community" long enough! Citizens, awake! . . . find out the issues . . . organize if necessary to show the City Council what support you have for your requirements.

We speak from the experience of the two year struggle illustrated at the bottom of this page. It should never have taken place; it was a serious loss in terms of time, money, and ENERGY. Hopefully, it will not occur again. But only if all concerned learn from this bitter experience and adjust their thinking and actions accordingly.

In line with our thinking that citizens THEMSELVES should outline the broad proposals for city fathers to follow—and FOR THE GOOD OF DALY CITY—we offer the following recommendations:

1. A Public Transportation System That Works

The BART station and the gasoline shortage have combined to make an adequate transportation system absolutely essential. The system must serve all areas of Daly City.

Talking about "linking up" with a proposed countywide transit system will not be satisfactory. The county system may be many years away. Daly City needs the service NOW to accommodate commuters and to alleviate congestion around the BART station.

We ask city officials to apply for federal and state aid and to start the engineering groundwork for a comprehensive plan that later can be linked up with the proposed countywide transportation network.

2. A Civic Beautification Program for ALL the City

Emphasis at first should be on the neglected areas of the city, including Original Daly City and Bayshore area. These areas must "catch up" so that ALL of Daly City will engender a sense of civic pride.

The Redevelopment Agency personnel at one time showed slides illustrating methods by which older buildings and areas could be beautified and landscaped inexpensively.

The city should follow the example of other cities in making low cost rehabilitation loans available to those who wish to comply with such programs.

3. We Oppose Annexation of San Bruno Mountain

Daly City taxpayers would face a tremendous burden if saddled with San Bruno Mountain development needs (schools, water, sewers, drainage, streets, firehouses, police, etc., etc.) Acquisition of Crocker Industrial Park would partially offset all this expense, but Brisbane is not about to give it up nor to be merged with Daly City.

Before the city goes for expansion it should adequately care for the area now under its control.

A poll by EQCC showed that San Mateo County does not wish a larger population, which is what we would be getting—38,500 people living right at the bottleneck of the Peninsula, using more utilities, water, services, energy.

We note that plans are under way to extend John Daly Drive up into the mountain area. Should this be done?

4. We Oppose the Effort to Raise City Tax Rate

It has been revealed in the press that officials of Daly City are trying to break through the tax freeze imposed by the Reagan-Moretti Tax Reform Act. The tax rate for the city is now fixed at $1.897 and only certain interest payments can be added on to this. But the surveys started by the city are for the purpose of using a loophole in the law based on population and other factors.

We ask all proposals of this nature be fully publicized. It is not satisfactory to put such items in 6 point type under official city printing. The newspaper reporters should be made aware.

THE ORIGINAL DALY CITY PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

Home Economics

First came the settlers, then came the general store. The merchant always took the risk that the town might fade away . . . In Daly City some merchants want the people to fade away so that highrises can be built that will help their businesses. Instead of taking the risk themselves, they want the homeowners to take the risk of finding another place to live at the new inflated prices and interest rates.

On Highrises

There is a city in Brazil which recently made the news when people died jumping from a highrise. The city fire department had no equipment tall enough to rescue them . . . In Calif. such equipment is mandatory for the highrise to get fire insurance. But the general public has to pay the bill for the special fire dept. equipment.

It Could Happen to You

Under present redevelopment law, a small group of men can decide that an area of land is worth more as business property than homes. They can set in motion the elaborate mechanism that chews up homes so that business people may use the property for a "higher" economic use. It could happen in any part of a city at any time.

We urge the formation of a federation of owner and tenant organizations for Daly City, Colma, and Broadmoor.

THE SHADOW KNOWS what the subject of David Rowe's Daly City Rotary Club topic will be when he speaks to some of the city's top businessmen today at noon. In a nutshell, it will be the biggest project the north county—and perhaps the entire county—has ever undertaken: the redevelopment of all areas east of the Junipero Serra Freeway. Well, maybe not ALL areas, but certainly most of them. First, the city council will set up a complete development agency, then start attracting builders, etc., etc. Where will it all end? Will it be good or bad for the city? Listen in for future stories on the subject.

'Old' Daly City Folk Fight Development

By James A. Finefrock

More than 900 residents of "old" Daly City are angrily battling a proposed multi-million dollar redevelopment project bordering on the Daly City Bay Area Rapid Transit station.

With BART operations still nearly a year away in that area, the current conflict shapes up as a bitter and classic redevelopment battle. What sets this conflict apart is that the proposed redevelopment area is not a slum, as has often been the case in other redevelopment fights.

Homeowners and renters in the modest, generally well kept residential area abutting BART's westernmost terminus emotionally denounce the redevelopment plans as the callous scheming of "Westlake fat cats."

Ten Candidates Run for 3 Seats In Pacifica

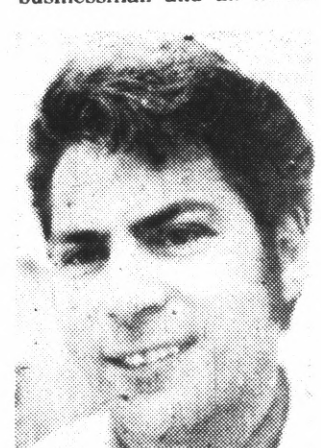

Ten candidates are running for three seats on the Pacifica City Council in the March 5 election.

The Post has provided space for all of the candidates to use as a forum for their views.

No responses have been received from: Warren Gabrieli, an attorney; Peter Murray, a businessman; or Kathryn Bouly Wilson, a store owner.

Here are the views of the other candidates:

Stanley Farber, 40, is a businessman and an incumbent councilman. He is a former mayor of Pacifica.

STAN FARBER

He is a former chairman of the Laguna Salada School District board of trustees.

He has served on the board of directors of the Youth Service Board, the San Mateo County Civil Defense Coordinating Board and the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce.

He has served on the San Mateo County School Board Association, the Pacifica Hospital Study Committee, and the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce Freight Rate Committee.

He was named the city's Outstanding Young Man of 1966. He has been in the pharmacy business in Pacifica since 1962. He lives at 992 Park Pacifica Ave.

He is widowed and the father of two daughters.

His statement:

"My reasons for seeking re-election are to continue to help make Pacifica a better city in which to live and raise our children. Together we must plan ahead in a positive and progressive manner."

"As a councilman, past vice mayor and past school board chairman, I will stand on my voting record and the positive accomplishments of these elected bodies. As a small businessman and past chamber director, I urge the growth and support of our local business community."

"As a sponsor of Little League and Bobby Sox League I have encouraged their development and cooperation of parents, city, schools and our youth in a positive direction."

Janice Fulford, 58, is a housewife. She describes herself as an environmentalist.

She and her husband and two sons live at 376 Olympian Way. She was a 1972 delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

She was a candidate in the 1972 city council race.

She is affiliated with Common Cause, Friends of the Earth, Ecology Action of Pacifica, the Coastal Alliance and the Pedro Valley Improvement Association.

She was educated at San Jose State and she holds a teaching credential from Cal Berkeley.

Her statement:

"Having attended almost every council and planning commission meeting for the past two years, I find that the council is out of touch with the desires of the residents to make Pacifica a fine home town while retaining its rural characteristics."

"Here are some of the goals I intend to pursue:

"The council must act to implement the expressed desires of residents."

"The council must seek funding at every level of government to provide improved bus service within the city and to BART."

"Our principal lateral (Sharp Park Road) should be included in the State Highway System."

"Residents must be assured that development does not downgrade their homes or create problems of traffic, drainage, loss of views, noise, air pollution or congestion."

"Beaches and hills should be preserved in their natural state."

JANICE FULFORD

May T. Gee, 49, is a restaurateur. She has lived for 18 years in the city. She has a husband and four children. They live at 575 Talbot Ave.

She has been affiliated with the American Legion, the Portola Business and Professional Women, San Mateo County Past Grand Jurors Association and the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce.

She has served on the Sharp Park and Oceana P-TA's, the city's planning commission and the Hillside Preservation Review Board.

Her statement:

"I am running for Pacifica City Council because I would like to see my many years of service to this community and the experience I have gained during those years brought to its logical goal, with maximum benefit to the city through service on the council."

"My past record with its broad spectrum of civic involvement has provided insight that further strengthens my confidence in my ability to serve in this highly responsible capacity."

"I feel that had I not accepted this challenge when various members of the community urged me to run, I would have been shirking my duty and turning my back on those who have had faith in my abilities in the past."

"I love Pacifica's natural beauty and its people. I look forward to having the opportunity to work as a council member toward recognition of our city as one of California's finest coastal communities, not just a bedroom community for people working in San Francisco."

"Change does not come easy but with patience in communication and sincerity in approach, I believe all things are possible, and will bring these qualities to the council room."

Virginia Jaeger, no age given, is a real estate salesperson. She is married and the mother of four children. They live at 396 Mina Lane.

She was a council candidate in 1972. She has been affiliated with the Pacifica Highlands Residents Association.

VIRGINIA JAEGER

cation, the Portola Business and Professional Women's Club, the American Legion Auxiliary, the American Red Cross and the South San Francisco Elks Club.

She has been a member of the Park, Beach and Recreation Commission, the Safety Commission, the Planning Commission and the city's beautification commission.

Her statement:

"Simply stated, I am the most qualified candidate for a seat on the Pacifica City Council."

"I base this statement upon my knowledge of the problems in the city, upon my expertise and ability to work with people and to hear and understand their concerns and upon my constant involvement with the governmental processes during the past 16 years."

"I feel our present city council has become a self-serving unit with delusions of grandeur and is dedicated to a philosophy that they know what is best for the people of Pacifica."

"The council consistently works within a structure which denies the people the representation they expect and are entitled to from their elected officials."

"Pacifica needs good planning policies, including future planning, an approach which will bring compatible businesses in to help the tax base; someone who will listen to the people's points of view and render a decision based on honest and integrity and someone who will represent them. I believe I can do the job effectively."

Fred Howard, 33, is a truck driver for Kilpatrick's Bakery. He is a member of the Teamster's Union. He and his wife have two children. They live at 423 Firecrest Ave.

He has been affiliated with the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce. He has been a member of the Park, Beach and Recreation Commission. He was a council candidate in 1968 and 1972.

His statement:

"I am a candidate for Pacifica City Council because I believe in a progressive and active City Council concerned with the planned growth of Pacifica designed to protect not only the environment but individual's rights as well.

"I have and shall continue to work to obtain better recreational facilities for our youth as well as our senior citizens and an adequate transportation system which is sorely needed by all ages in the community."

"I believe there should be tighter controls put on development, that builders should give to the city rather than strip her, thereby profiting by her natural beauties and that common sense and care should be used in making decisions about any development."

"I feel that one of the priorities for city management is the hiring of more fire personnel which is so needed in our city."

"I feel that Pacifica is a city with a future and that we must start now."

"I know that development can bring additional revenues to our City and I am committed to seeing that any building done within our City will be a BENEFIT, not a DEFICIT."

"I feel that commercial building and commercial recreation can bring those revenues and add needed dimension to our City if done right!"

Sidney Lorvan, 40, is an attorney and real estate instructor at City College of San Francisco. He is married and the father of three children. They live at 267 Juanita Ave.

He is a member of the Laguna Salada School District board of trustees. He is a member of the San Mateo County Democratic Central Committee. He is also a member of the New York bar and the California bar.

He has been affiliated with the Pacifica Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau, the Vallemar Homeowner Association, the Boy Scouts and the Coastside Pre-School Development Corp.

His statement:

"I am running for Pacifica City Council because I think I can help to provide the leadership that Pacifica needs."

"As a Laguna Salada School trustee for six and a half years, I have learned how to make hard decisions and how to move forward with limited resources."

"My approach has been to examine each individual problem thoroughly, to get public input, and to seek out both temporary and ongoing solutions within the ability of the community to pay."

"I think that is the approach that Pacifica needs if our city is to start solving its problems."

"In my years on the board, the district has made great strides in its educational program and in its relationship with the public. I have been a leader in aggressive and successful efforts to increase state support for the district and to bring tax relief to our taxpayers."

"As an attorney practicing in Pacifica, I know many of the problems of the community first hand, and I can grapple with the legal problems that surround so many of the possible solutions to municipal questions in this day and age."

"As an active participant in community affairs for over ten years, I know and have worked with many of Pacifica's people and organizations, involving many different interest and views."

William Richardson, 50, is a painter for the Laguna Salada School District.

He is married and has three children. They live at 543 Dolphin Drive.

He is chairman of the Park, Beach and Recreation Commission. He is active in Little League and the American Legion. He is a Moose. He has been affiliated with Vista Del Mar Baptist Church, the California School Employees Association.

YWCA Programs

Being Resumed

After a six-month absence, the San Mateo County YWCA and staff has been reinstated in the United Methodist Church in San Bruno.

The Y.W.C.A. serves many needs within the community, with activities directed toward eliminating racism, reducing poverty, increasing public awareness of ecological problems, and providing programs for all ages.

These programs help a woman to develop a better understanding of herself and her role in the community.

SKYLAB ASSIGNMENT

Navy Fireman Apprentice Robert S. Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oris J. Watts of 684 Spruce Ave., South San Francisco, participated in the recovery of the Skylab astronauts as a crewmember of the primary recovery ship, the USS New Orleans.

Prior to the splashdown, Watts and his shipmates spent weeks of preparation in recovery drills and checking equipment used to recover the command module.

A former student of South San Francisco High School, he joined the Navy in August 1971.

AT FORT LEWIS

Army Specialist Four Ben Chavez, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose L. V. Chavez, 430 Niantic Ave., Daly City, is serving with the 9th Infantry Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Spec. Chavez is a truck driver in Battery C, 1st Battalion of the Division's 84th Field Artillery.

The specialist's wife, Ana, lives at 812 Stoneyford Drive, Colma.

"That Pacifica is a good place to live, and Pacificans should re-evaluate what we have here, and what we don't have but need."

WILLIAM RICHARDSON

"We have our own park, so that we don't have to travel forty or fifty miles to have a picnic."

"Our motorcycle enthusiasts need a place where they can enjoy their sport."

"We need a transportation feeder system to BART in view of the energy crisis."

"We need another highway in and out of Pacifica."

"Some need to be secure in the knowledge that their homes will not be removed from under them for a 'pet project' or to fill the pockets of some big developer."

"We need a planned recreation program for our 14 to 18 year old youth, too."

"We need to provide our city employees decent wages and working conditions, and not serve as a training ground for other cities who will pay them more for their services and talents."

"We need more firemen and policemen to protect our city."

"Someday in the future we need a City Civic Center."

Retain Incumbents In Daly City

The Post believes, with few exceptions, that experienced leadership is vital for a progressive local government which hopes to keep atop its problems.

For that reason — and because overall they have performed well — we urge the retention of the three Daly City council incumbents in the March 5 election.

The experience ranges from Bernard J. (Bud) Lycett's 10 years and McRobert Stewart's four years to Victor G. Kyriakis' 16 months.

All are longtime residents of the community they serve. They have knowledge of not only the area, but of its assets, liabilities and capabilities.

Kyriakis is not listed as an incumbent on the ballot, because he was appointed to serve out the remainder of now-Assemblyman Louis J. Papan's term. He has additional experience on the city's Planning Commission, and he now is a member of the San Mateo County Transit Development Board.

Lycett, generally regarded as a giant among the Peninsula's municipal government figures, until this year served six terms as Daly City's mayor. He also sits on several state, county and local agencies. Lycett has distinguished himself through fulltime service to Daly City.

MacRobert (Mac) Stewart, also a former planning commissioner, is known as a hard worker, attuned to his area's needs through local, county and state government assignments. He is a member of the Local Agency Formation Commission and of the State Board of Engineering.

The incumbents have met head-on problems involving the Bay Area Rapid Transit District system, redevelopment in old Daly City, needed senior citizen low-cost housing and a medical clinic for low-income persons.

The City Council battled BART for a long time, with one of the problems — parking for Daly City BART terminus patrons — slowed down primarily because of U. S. Government red tape, not municipal government disinterest.

With BART and the energy crisis spurring wide-spread concern, the incumbents and their colleagues are studying the transportation priorities of Daly City constituents.

They responded to the sentiments of residential area redevelopment foes, by reducing the target zone to commercial areas favored by the businessmen involved.

The incumbents also exercised the leadership which with a "pay as the city grows" policy, increased park and recreational facilities (including the Lincoln Park Clubhouse and the 23-acre Gellert Park and playground), built a new firehouse in the growing Serramonte region, new libraries in Bayshore and Serramonte, while funding the Guadalupe Health Clinic for low-income persons and the Information and Referral Center, after the county halted its financing.

The Post, based upon their past performances, recommends Lycett, Kyriakis and Stewart to its Daly City readers in the March 5 election.

Elect Battaglia, Pedreddii in S.S.F.

The unrest in South San Francisco's city government the past year indicates that fresh points of view and unity of direction are needed.

The leadership of the present City Council failed to materialize, and the city structure became disorganized, many of its employees demoralized and the City Council itself fragmented as a result.

The City Council was unable to maintain reasonable control of its day to day government operations — because of its incohesiveness generally — after a consulting firm, VTN, was hired as the city's public works department.

The entire Engineering Department was ousted, and employees in other divisions resigned because of dissatisfaction.

Eventually, VTN disappeared, as did the city manager instrumental in bringing it to South San Francisco. Yet, discord and division on the City Council has not disappeared, and the city still appears to be losing the stability of its past.

The Post urges its readers in South San Francisco to bring a new look to the city and to vote March 5 for challengers Richard Battaglia and Leo Padreddii.

As individual candidates, Battaglia and Padreddii have heralded an urgent need to rid South San Francisco of extreme divisiveness. Together, they ought to achieve a more reasonable calm, which will enable a new group of city professionals to properly and responsively administer the "industrial city."

Both Battaglia and Padreddii have good credentials for membership on the City Council.

Battaglia is experienced in the proper inner-workings of city government, since he is a member of the Personnel Board, the Capital Improvements Committee and the Colma Creek Flood Control Advisory Board. By appointment of the governor he is also a member of the State Board of Behavioral Science Examiners.

Padreddii has experience of a different, yet creditable nature, for he is the senior member of the South San Francisco Unified School Board of Trustees. A trustee since 1965, Padreddii is the current board president. As such, he has the knowledge of the city and its needs.

The Post believes that Battaglia and Padreddii are amply prepared for cohesive and municipal roles in South San Francisco's future.

Elect Schwarzbach

The Post recommends Alvin Schwarzbach for election to the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City and Colma.

The district has been rocked with controversy for years, and although there are signs that it is settling down, a strong member who can insure stability to the district is needed. The member should also have concern for young and a good educational program for the district.

We believe that Alvin Schwarzbach is the candidate who can enhance best these positions.

Schwarzbach, who has attended the District Board of Trustees meetings regularly for several years, is a member of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council's Board of Directors and of the Executive Board of the Boy Scouts.

San Mateo County Area Council.

He has been in a position because of his community-wide activities to learn something of the district's shortcomings and successes in education and administration.

We believe that Schwarzbach's experience and intelligence will help speed the district's settling process. We urge his election March 5.

'No' on Pacifica Measure A

Measure A to be voted upon in the Pacifica municipal election on March 5 asks the voters to decide whether Pacifica's tax rate shall be raised, if necessary, to meet a rise in the cost of living. Whatever may have been the intent of the City Council in placing this measure on the ballot it is so badly drawn that we recommend a "No" vote.

We are informed by Pacifica city officials that the intent of the measure is to provide for a tax increase to enable the city to raise funds to increase the compensation of the employees of the city. The Times applauds the intent of the city officials and assures the employees of Pacifica that we favor fair compensation for all city employees. However, Measure A, as submitted to the voters, is so badly drawn and so replete with ambiguities that the taxpayers in our judgment, would be making a mistake to vote in favor of the measure.

We observe at the outset that where voters are asked to approve a tax rate, it should be for a specific purpose and the measure should be so written that the taxpayers know how much of a tax increase they are voting for. There is nothing in Measure A which enables the taxpayer to know how much his tax bill is to be increased if the measure is adopted. Variables in the measure which could greatly affect the amount of the tax increase are the percentage of increase in the cost of living, the amount of pay increase which may be negotiated, the frequency of the pay increases and the base which is to be used for the purpose of determining pay increases. While there is provision in the measure that any pay increase for employees shall not exceed 8 per cent, this percentage is not sufficiently related to base pay to enable the voter to know what the increase is going to be, and beyond this an expression of a maximum of an 8 per cent limit in this measure is bound to prompt representatives of the employees to base their demands upon an 8 per cent increase whether or not the cost of living increase justifies an increase in this amount.

We recommend that the city officials meet and confer with the city employees or their representatives as required by law and arrive at a fair measure of compensation without any preconceived formula such as that set forth in Measure A; and that if funds available for wage increases are insufficient under the present tax rate then the employees are to understand that the agreement is subject to voter approval of a tax override sufficient to provide such increase. The City Council can then go before the people with a measure providing for a specific tax override adequate to satisfy the agreement between the city and its employees and at the same time enable the taxpayer to know when he votes for the measure how much his tax bill is going to be increased. Although this procedure might involve a special election, we are informed that such an election could be held within approximately 90 days after agreement with the employees is reached. It is not, in our opinion, unreasonable to wait for this short period particularly since any agreement between the city and the employees for a wage increase could establish a retroactive date which would protect the employees against any loss by reason of a delay entailed by a further election.

We repeat, that we favor fair compensation for Pacifica employees and hope that the City Council will meet and confer with the employees to provide fair compensation but, in the meantime, we must recommend to the voters that they vote "No" on Measure A because it is so badly drafted as to be almost unintelligible.

Making Decision On Impeachment

Last week this column wrote of the change of perspective in impeachment proceedings, and the central importance of the draft bill of impeachment when prepared. This week strategy of defense before the House of Representatives shall be considered, with surprising conclusions — surprising in that they are different from the expectations of most observers.

The starting place for such an analysis is consideration of the House of Representatives and its members. Some Congressmen, mainly liberal Democrats, are known to favor impeachment. Another segment, composed of conservative Republicans is known to oppose. The large majority, however, are presently uncommitted, and their votes will decide the question.

What is their bias? What motivations will affect their votes? These members will certainly be influenced, in varying degrees, by the facts presented. They also will be swayed by partisan considerations, their constituencies, and personal prejudices of one kind or another. Their main motivation, however, will be something else again — self-preservation.

The House, even more than the Senate, hates to be counted on hotly contested issues. Most Congressmen seek a way out, and if one cannot be found, cast a "safe" vote, if there is one. Avoidance of controversial issues and "safe" voting are the very foundation of Congressional careers. These talents are used to build terms in office and to gather the years necessary to rise to the top.

Some Congressmen aren't under this kind of pressure. They represent secure districts, and impeachment doesn't endanger them personally. It is easy for a New York City Democrat, or for an Orange County Republican to vote passion and survive. Most members have to be more cautious, and that is why about 350 of 435 are undecided (or say they are) on impeachment.

For the member watching his own number, an impeachment vote is a disaster. House results will be remembered for the rest of present lifetimes. Each individual Congressman's vote will become as much a part of his dossier as his party registration. A vote might slip by in 1974, but be reexamined by constituents in 1976, 1978, 1980, and on and on. Facts concerning the charges may come to light in future years, and the public will require perfect foresight in light of later disclosed information.

Given the nature of the "frightened vote," how will the undecided Congressmen vote on impeachment? This depends upon facts and strategy. If, on any charge, the great weight of evidence leans one way or another, the safe vote will be with the preponderance of proof.

But what if things are in their present balance? What if no new facts are developed that favor or disfavor the President? In that event, the thinking (about himself) Congressman will vote to impeach. He can plausibly claim that the President is entitled to a trial to clear his name. He can even make a speech of Presidential support, and toss the problem to the Senate with a "yes" vote.

As House action approaches, present Presidential strategy becomes more and more questionable. The game of non-disclosure can now have but a short time to run. Lofly refusal to join the fray can only last to the moment a draft Bill of Impeachment sees the light of day, and should probably be ended now.

For if the House has before it evidence on both sides, and the benefit of cross-examination, all issues except the clearest against the President will be resolved in his favor. Under these circumstances a different haven for frightened Congressmen exists. Those in doubt can resolve the evidence, and cast a "no" vote in the "interest of national stability."

Rep. Edward Hutchinson, ranking Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee, has suggested that the President's counsel should have the right of cross-examination during committee proceedings. If Hutchinson can get the full committee to go along, the President's lawyers should grasp at the opportunity.

Senator Scott, Vice President Ford, and others have declared that the President has evidence that will clear him of charges. Now is the time for disclosure of this and everything else that will help his case.

Finding Jobs For Those on Probation

By DUANE SANDUL

For many law offenders in San Mateo County, part of the "bargain" for them staying out of jail for extended terms is to seek and maintain a job.

And, undoubtedly, many of the confessed or convicted criminals probably mumble to themselves as the judge mandates the job requirement. "That's been my problem—finding a job."

That's where Gary Yazalina comes to the rescue. It's his job, as an employment consultant for the County's Probation Department, to find jobs and training programs for hundreds of men and women placed on probation each year by judges.

It isn't always easy, but Yazalina's track record is good.

Thanks to him, doors of business representatives of dozens of Peninsula firms are opening for persons with records.

Additionally, the training necessary to acquire a skill is being found for persons without the necessary background to land a job.

Although it's statistically impossible to prove, the 40-year-old Yazalina believes that the county's job placement program is keeping dozens of persons from returning to criminal activities.

The personable Yazalina, who in essence trained himself in the job, said that 99 per cent of the probationers are motivated to seek jobs — but need a skill or a "break."

And the "break" is a business representative's understanding of what probation means — a period of time in which a person's life is monitored by trained specialists, seeking to adjust a criminal's lifestyle.

"The problem for many is that they're on probation and have been going in (for interviews) alone and companies are unaware as to what probation means," Yazalina said.

"The minute the person levels with them, if the company is unaware, quite often that's the end of the interview. Another thing which happens is that a person on probation often doesn't know what to say, whether he should level with a business rep or fake it. We advise them to level with the companies, and they won't be precluded."

The contact Yazalina has established with several major companies from San Jose to San Francisco has made it possible for him to often pick up the telephone and inform a potential employer that he has a candidate for a job vacancy. But most of his time is spent knocking on potential employer doors.

About the only types of businesses which generally are uninterested with persons who have criminal backgrounds are banks and retail stores.

"They use the reasoning that there's bonding and money, and we don't push it," Yazalina said. He noted too that the banks may soon change their policies.

Yazalina said that before the energy crisis gained momentum late last fall the employment picture had been improving, especially with electronic companies.

"Now companies are cautious about this energy thing, so employment is about status quo or selective hiring," he explained. "And when the competition gets tougher, it's harder to place our probationers."

A research study by Yazalina last year illustrated that about 53 per cent of the probationers obtained and maintained employment during the year, 4 per cent were involved in vocational training programs and 3 per cent returned to college as fulltime students.

About 26 per cent remained unemployed, only 7 per cent were returned to custody and another 7 per cent left the county's jurisdiction.

The study also showed, he reported, that the vast majority of unemployed probationers being referred to him and a newly-hired consultant coming the North County, Dick DeLisser, are between the ages of 18 and 25, single, with no military service, sporadic job backgrounds, high school attendees but not necessarily graduates, and 50 per cent did not have transportation or a driver's license.

The bulk of referrals, which generally average from 40 to 60 per month, require some training before job placement. Yazalina said.

An Irsome Fine

To the Editor:

The other day I paid a $5 fine for a parking violation. Normally, this isn't a unique experience, except that:

I'm a "Peninsula Commuter" — trying to save money, time and energy by utilizing BART. Or rather, in the eyes of others, I'm one of the many "Peninsula Invaders" — against whom the merchants, politicians and police of Daly City have organized a quasi-vendetta of intimidation and harassment by forcing similar fines upon us.

Paying such a fine also isn't unique except that my wheels were turned but failed to touch the curb by about two inches. This violation would not normally warrant a citation in any reasonable community not plagued by the "get 'em" syndrome.

To prove the point, the vehicle (a camper) parked next to me was facing in the wrong direction, the wheels were not touching the curb, and it was parked in front of a driveway. But apparently, it belonged to a resident, and one not subjected to the campaign against "outsiders."

Oddly enough, the money-hungry merchants and politicians of Daly City once welcomed BART when land was being purchased and the property taxes rose. Now that those dollars are pat, the next move will be the building of expensive parking lots owned by the city fathers to further financially bleed John and Mary Doe commuters for all they can get.

The overzealous police action now might well be the first step of a plan to force the "invaders" into their parking lots. Why not put up signs stating "NO COMMUTERS ALLOWED" and face the problem openly rather than underhandedly?

What the Daly City merchants and officials don't understand is that in reality, we are not "invaders." Our San Mateo County, state and federal taxes help support Daly City and helped to build and run BART. We have every right to park and to utilize the system without undue harassment.

Exorcism and Demons

To the Editor:

Regarding the recent rash of writings on exorcism of demons, brought about by the book and movie "The Exorcist," it certainly is an ancient subject.

The Hebrews called these demons "dybukes." Only the high priest had the ability to exorcise dybukes.

Whatever you call them is a matter of background and thinking which becomes fixed habit. It's not easy to change our habits, but it can be done. If not alone then with proper help.

Our Demons are our insecure thinking, as in temper aroused by fear, guilt, doubt, jealousy, inferiority, hatred and all forms of negative thinking which charge our atmosphere with adverse vibrations.

Lorvan, Farber and Gee in Pacifica

The City of Pacifica — blessed with seashore beauty, but sorely plagued with acute economic problems — needs reliable, though inspired leadership.

With virtually no industry and limited commercial development, in contrast to other San Mateo County areas, Pacifica's financial woes can be expected to continue for a long time.

The Post recommends to its Pacifica readers that they retain Stanley Farber, the only incumbent seeking reelection.

Farber, a former school board trustee with widely diverse community concerns, is completing his first four-year term and can be expected to be concerned, persistent and energetic in his approach to Pacifica's harassing problems. He has proven so in the past.

The Post also recommends the election of May Gee, a former longtime member of the Planning Commission, and Sidney Lorvan, a veteran member of the Laguna Salada (Elementary) School District Board of Trustees.

This is a time when reasonable and balanced municipal decisions must be made regarding land use, residential and commercial development. Some sort of industry (office complexes or recreation, perhaps) is needed. Mrs. Gee has the experience and judgment to deal with these problems.

Mrs. Gee, too, has a proven knowledge of the entire City of Pacifica, through her involvement in varied activities. Her 12 years on the Planning Commission provided an insight into government processes, as did membership on the San Mateo County Grand Jury and the Hillside Preservation Board.

Pacifica needs her intelligence and moderation, as well.

Lorvan also is well qualified to hold one of the three council seats. He not only has served six years on the local school board, but also has shown an intense interest in city government for several years.

Like Farber and Mrs. Gee, Lorvan's community activities involve understanding of the problems which daily bother financially strapped Pacifica.

We recommend support at the polls March 5 for Farber, Mrs. Gee and Lorvan.

A Hot, Nutritious Meal

'I Wanted to Do Something for My Friends'

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Always having been a believer in that age-old nutritional slogan "You are what you eat," I decided one day last week to lunch with a group of North County senior citizens at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse in Daly City.

Never have I eaten so well, or amidst a happier bunch of folk.

The free lunch program in Daly City started in early January and has averaged between 35 to 60 persons daily, except Wednesdays when the clubhouse is turned over to the Daly City Senior Citizens Club for their weekly meeting.

There is no charge for the hot meal, but many diners drop whatever they can afford — usually 25 cents — into a box at the door.

On the particular day I visited the clubhouse on the corner of Acton and Brunswick, the luncheon crowd was enjoying a meal which started off with a cup of hot clam chowder, followed by a small salad (cole slaw), creamed tuna on noodles, peas, bread, margarine and topped off with vanilla cake and coffee or milk.

There was little left on the plates collected at the end of the meal.

One elderly woman I talked to said she could not come to lunch every day "because I've been gaining too much weight."

Her story is typical of how the program, which started off as the brainchild of Julius Castellán — a senior citizen himself who wanted to "do something for my friends" — has caught on among the county's older residents.

I honestly could not find one unhappy person in the 66 persons lunching at the clubhouse on the day I visited.

Castellán said it was typical. "They all seem to enjoy it. If they don't like something we have on the menu, we take it off. Every day and every week the menu is varied," Castellán said.

Aided by a staff of four (Operation Outreach Aid Florence Kane; cook Occie Sherrell; food handler Cristina Murillo, and bus driver Don Meek, Castellán not only oversees the serving of lunch at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse, but also to 10 bedridden senior citizens as well.

The 10 shut-ins have lunches brought to them by driver Meek, who also picks up persons unable to provide their own transportation to the clubhouse.

The Senior Citizens Nutrition Project, under the auspices of the County's Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC), is presently funded for 100 people for a year at a cost of some $56,000.

Castellán has already asked for funding for the next two years, "but first I have to get the number of people eating here to over 100 persons."

Most of the area's senior citizens don't even know of the existence of this free lunch program.

There are no qualifications for eating the food, except that a person must be at least 55-years-old and a resident of San Mateo County.

Asked why the county needed such a program, Castellán, Site Administrator for the program through the California Commission on Aging, said:

"To provide a hot, nutritious meal in a comfortable social setting for our senior citizens who have the greatest economic and social needs."

It isn't only the hot food, catered by the TC Catering Company of San Mateo, that draws people to the clubhouse, it's the warm companionship that abounds inside the modest building, I found.

The nutrition program not only builds strong bodies and fills stomachs, it builds strong friendships and fills a vital need of today's senior citizens — the need for someone to talk to, someone who understands.

There's plenty of both at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse these days.

Pupils Vie for GEMCO Grants

Students from 10 local high schools will vie for GEMCO scholarship awards to colleges of their choice in semi-final meetings before a panel of six judges at the Daly City Civic Center March 6 at 1 p.m.

In all, 22 local high schools participated in the annual competition which will select three students to receive awards of $1,000 (first), $500 (second) and $250 (third).

The three top scholarship awards are paid to a student upon proof of registration at a recognized college. Funds come from the GEMCO store chain's membership fees.

All student participants in the semi-finals receive plaques and a $25 savings bond.

To qualify for the GEMCO store awards, a student must be in his or her last year of high school and indicate a willingness to attend college.

Awards will be made at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto.

In attendance will be civic and government dignitaries, family members of students involved in the scholarship competition and GEMCO officials.

There are now 12 students scheduled to meet six unidentified judges, who will ask them questions in a variety of categories.

The students were identified as:

Michele Reese, El Camino High; Walter Shu, South San Francisco; Cynthia Chans, Jefferson: Stephen Callay, Crestmoor; Jame Mulready, St. Ignatius; Lori Sturiza, Capuchino High; Rita Briones, Oceana High; Nancy Murry, Westmoor; Christopher Gauger, Terra Nova, and Connie Thodos, a life member of the California Scholarship Federation.

Miss Thodos has been the San Mateo Times' "Sweetheart of the Week," while Sturiza was awarded citation of the year on his school's track team.

The last two finalists in the contests came from St. Ignatius High in San Francisco. This year's participant from St. Ignatius, James Mulready, lives in Daly City.

Miss Kephart to Wed Russell Ross Barrett

The Crystal Springs Golf Club has been reserved for the reception which will follow the marriage of Claudia Anne Kephart and Russell Ross Barrett III.

The couple will be married on August 24 at Our Lady of Angels Church.

Claudia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Austin Kephart of Burlingame, and the sister of Kimberley Kephart, Mrs. C. J. Lyons of Daly City is her grandmother.

The future bride was graduated from Mills High School and the College of San Mateo. She belongs to the Cosmetology Alumni Club of CSM.

Russell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ross Barrett Jr. of Daly City. He also has one sister, Mrs. Thomas Delago of Daly City. He is an alumnus of Jefferson High School and also has studied at the Cement Mason Apprenticeship School in San Francisco.

The San Francisco Motorcycle Club, the American Motorcycle Association and the Coastside Motorcycle Club are among Russell's affiliations.

Claudia has asked her sister to be her honor attendant. Bridesmaid duties will be shared by Shannon Herren of Los Angeles and Karen Kalend of Burlingame. Rounding out the list of female attendants are the future bride's cousins, Cheryl and Jennifer Lyons of Fairfax, who will serve as junior bridesmaids, and Michelle Lyons of Fairfax, who will act as the flower girl.

Best man duties will be performed by Mike Menesini of San Francisco. Tom DeLago and Ray LeLow of Daly City will seat guests, and Tommy DeLago will carry the rings for his uncle's wedding.

Temple Walk-A-Thon For Israel Planned

Seventh, eighth and ninth grade students of Temple Beth Israel Judea will have a walk-a-thon in support of Israel March 2.

The youngsters will secure sponsors to pledge funds for Israel. Prizes will be awarded for the most sponsors. Other Temple Youth Groups have been invited to participate.

Birthday Sabbath will be observed March 9 at Congregation Beth Israel-Judea.

All youngsters whose birthdays fall during the month of March have been invited to attend services on that morning where a special blessing will be given by Rabbi Arthur Kolatch. Each child will be presented with a personal gift from the Sisterhood.

In observance of the holiday of Purim, Beth Israel

Judea will have the reading of the Megillah at a service March 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Officiating will be Rabbi Arthur Kolatch and Cantor Salo Blumenthal.

The Sisterhood ladies will present the children with groggers (noise makers) and the traditional holiday food-Hamentaschen. Everyone is invited to attend.

FIREMAN TRAINING

Navy Fireman Recruit Anthony F. Escandor, son of Mrs. Filomena F. Laguisma of 360 Bellevue Ave., Daly City, has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

A 1973 graduate of John O'Connell High School, San Francisco, he is scheduled to report to Fireman Apprenticeship Training here.

What Makes Village School Unique?

Village Nursery School is one of two cooperative nursery schools located in Daly City.

In addition to these two schools, The Department of Recreation offers a Tiny Tots program with minimum parent participation required during the short session.

What makes Village Nursery School unique is that it has been in existence in Daly City for nearly two decades and has had less than four different directors during that time.

Village Nursery School is unique for another reason. It is one of only two nursery schools that come under the jurisdiction of the Jefferson Adult Education Division of that high school district, the other being Pacifica Cooperative Nursery School.

The mothers of the children enrolled in the nursery school are therefore required to attend weekly evening meetings called Child Study. At this time, many areas of child development and growth, interpersonal relationships and communication are discussed.

In addition to a director-teacher, an assistant director-teacher, mothers act as parent-teachers during the nursery school session. Each mother is required to participate in this way one morning a week and has an active part in her child's pre-school experience. Officers are elected by the mothers and each has an important role in running and maintaining the school.

Besides the varied games, puzzles, blocks and books, there are also dress-up clothes for the children, and an indoor sandbox. Recently, each mother made a new game to be used in the school, each with a different goal for learning.

Outside, there are many activities for muscle development, including bike riding, climbing domes, and playing with slides and barrels.

The basic goal of the nursery school is to provide an opportunity for socialization. Naturally, learning occurs as children experience new situations and new toys under mothers' supervision. However, the main philosophy is one of free flow movement of children, inside or out.

The school day is fairly unstructured except for the snack time, during which the children are divided into two equal groups to enhance the story-time and snack. Even then, a child is not "required" to participate in the snack-time; there is free choice.

In addition to school activities, there are outings to local parks and other areas of interest. There is a constant desire to develop and enhance the child's self-concept as well as his total environmental experiences.

Lately, there has been an increasing demand for such opportunities for pre-school children, but facilities are few and far between. Many are over-priced and more still, have long waiting lists.

For the first time in the history of Village Nursery School, the mothers have voted to open an afternoon session beginning this month.

The morning session runs from 8:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m., and the afternoon sessions will begin at 12:30 p.m. and end at 3:30 p.m. Maximum enrollment for either session is 24 children who can be registered for a 3 day week or a 5 day week with tuition at $17 and $22 respectively. Openings are now available for the afternoon session only.

Inquiries may be made at Village Nursery School, at 474 North Parkview Ave., Daly City (992-4350).

Louanne Heath

The North Peninsula Auxiliary Florence Crittenton Services will meet this morning at 10:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Ronald Chiappari, according to Mrs. Murray H. Freedman.

On the agenda for this morning's confab will be items discussed at the executive board brunch held in the home of Mrs. Albert Teglia.

Special guest at the brunch meeting was Rita Babrait, the volunteer service coordinator of the Florence Crittenton home. Others on hand for the planning session were Mrs. Elyse Douat, president, Mrs. Edward Macklin, Mrs. R. L. Ariani, Mrs. Ronald Chiappari, Mrs. John Vollers, Charles Poggio, Mrs. Freedman, Mrs. Alvan Beall, Mrs. Hubert Sandefur, Mrs. Henry Kaufman, Mrs. Rose Raineri and Mr. Richard McClain.

THE BROWNIES of troop 1810 will gather at the Vista Grande School tomorrow afternoon and share rides for a trip to McDonalds.

The girls will be taking part in a program of tours offered by the McDonald's restaurant at 2450 Junipero Serra. In addition to getting an opportunity to peek "Back stage" the Brownies will be given a special "treat" by the management.

Youth groups interested in such outings should be advised that in addition to McDonalds, Shakey's Pizza on Junipero Serra and 87th Street and the Round Table Pizza on 63rd Street in St. Francis Square have tours for groups which call in advance and make reservations.

MRS. WILLIAM SCHOU, publicity chairwoman for the Westlake Catholic Women, calls to report that Mrs. John Pappas has been named to the post of chairman of the annual rummage sale sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women.

Assisting Mrs. Pappas will be her co-chairman Mrs. Lloyd Madigan and area chairwomen, Mrs. Frank Stark, Mrs. Michael Cooney, Mrs. John Shea and Mrs. Gerald O'Connell.

Others helping with the sale, slated for March 1 and 2, are Mr. Harold Thompson, solicitations; Mrs. James Barnett and Mrs. John Shea, equipment; Mrs. Robert White and Mr. Charles Christofani, refreshments; Mrs. Edward Glischinski, Mrs. John Whilden and Mrs. Dennis Desjardins, finances, and Mrs. Robert Rickert, poster distribution.

The sale will open daily at 10 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. Department heads are Mrs. Robert Enright, Mrs. James Dougherty, Mrs. Richard Mudge, Mrs. E. T. Ruggerio, Mrs. Williams Arata, Mrs. Eugene Murray, Mrs. Philip Varuso, Mrs. Joseph Hayden, Mrs. John Minkel, Mrs. John Cunnie, Mrs. Robert Arata, Mrs. John Macia, Mrs. Sebastian Passanisi, Mrs. Alfred Diodati, Mrs. James Garvey, Mrs. Robert Reich, Mrs. William Feeley, Mrs. Paul Lucido, Mrs. William Noonan, Mrs. Rene Courpet, Mrs. Fredrick Caracciolo, Mrs. Joseph Potter, Mrs. John McNulty, Mrs. William Savage, Mrs. Robert Hulsmann, Mrs. Paul Gonzales, Mrs. Robert Curran, Mrs. Michael Salvemini, Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mrs. Donald Osuna, Mrs. Donald Tarantino, Mrs. John Cresalia, Mrs. Byron Davenport, Mrs. John Lester, Mrs. Robert Cantwell and Mrs. Frank Kelechava.

Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall, site of the sale, is located at 1 Elmwood Drive, Daly City.

IF YOU HURRY there may still be time for you to sign up for an "armchair tour" of the great art museums of Europe.

Mrs. Hal Fox reports that she will begin a new class March 5, which will feature her wonderful collection of slides of most of Europe's great masterpieces housed in the Sistine Chapel, the Prado, the Louvre, the Rijksmuseum and the Tate Gallery.

The course will offer 1 semester unit of college credit and is open to teachers taking it for increment credit as well as high school seniors and general public.

Pre-registration is required and enrollment limited. Phone the college office, 355-7000, today to place your name on the roll.

IT WAS "SNIP, SNIP" and "paste, paste" for Marilyn Bagnall, Mrs. Alice Barichievich, Mrs. Miriam Ericson, Mrs. Margaret Kincaid, Mrs. Kathryn Jovick, Mrs. Mary Mikulin, Mrs. Elvera Sunnell, Mrs. Virginia Tierney and Mrs. Myrtle Woodcock one recent day as they began construction of the 1974 Friends of the Library Bookmarks.

The "gooney birds," "lass with a flower," and "bookworms" are rolling off the assembly line in large numbers as the ladies gear up for their sale at the Serramonte Shopping Center Mall Festival in April.

THE FRIDAY MEETING of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild will be an exciting one as Sister Florence will be present to show the hospital's expansion plans.

The guild members will then discuss the possibility of a pledge to the expansion program and the possible size of such a commitment.

The guild president, Mrs. Mary Short, urges all members to be on hand to take an active part in the discussion making

St. Patrick's Day tray favors will be the project for the workshop committee in the hospital solarium, while the board meets. The workshop and executive session will be followed by the regular luncheon and general meeting at 12:30 p.m.

HIP HOP SPREAD the word about Serramonte High School's attempts to raise $26,000 to send the concert band to the Hawaiian Festival of Music in June are the very dedicated members of the Serramonte High School Jazz band.

The students are accepting invitations to demonstrate the musical skills of Serramonte's music students and to present the story behind the drive for funds. Any civic, social or religious group that would like to lend a hand is asked to contact Jan Gaynor, music department chairwoman at Serramonte, by calling 992-9555, Ext. 19.

Mrs. Rush Monbert, publicity chairman for the fund drive, reports that the entire student body at the high school is pitching in to help raise the money to send the concert band and its chaperones off to the island state June 19.

Bar Mitzvah Ceremony For Rubee of Daly City

"Remember Your Enemy — Your Friends Will Remember You" is the sermon topic selected by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards for the Sabbath Service March 1 at Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City.

The service will begin at 8:30 p.m. and Cantor Jacob Graudenz will chant the liturgy. An Oneg Shabbat will follow.

Sabbath Services will continue Saturday at 10 a.m. also conducted by Rabbi Edwards and Cantor Graudenz. The service will witness the Bar Mitzvah of Larry Rubee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rubee, Larry, who has now reached maturity in the eyes of the synagogue, can take his place as an adult member of the Congregation.

He will participate in the service, read blessings and prayers, and chant the Haftorah, an accompanying work to the Torah Reading. Marking this special day in his life, Rubee will be presented with his own Tallit (prayer shawl) by his parents, a Certificate of Bar Mitzvah by Rabbi Edwards, a prayer book of his own by the Congregation, a ritual Kiddush Cup by the Sisterhood and a prayer book will be presented to the Congregation in Rubee's honor by a representative of the Men's Club and by the USY Chalutzim Chapter.

Rabbi Edwards has selected "The Vision of Ezekiel" as his sermon topic. The family of the Bar Mitzvah candidate will host a Kiddush following the service.

The Men's Club and the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel will combine forces and talents to present "Purim Ball Continental," March 9.

The affair will be a costume dance with music by Richard Santi. The evening will also feature a floor show and a buffet supper. Donation is $5 per person, and group reservations are being accepted at the Temple office, 756-5430 or by calling Jerry Fox, 992-2603 or Mrs. Michael Reutlinger, 994-0138.

A regular meeting of the Men's Club of Congregation B'nai Israel will be held March 5 at the Jade Dragon in Daly City.

The dinner/meeting will begin at 7 p.m. with no-host cocktails. President Julius Michaelis will preside and announces that a discussion on the energy crisis as well as other important matters will be held. Members and guests are welcome.

THE ANNUAL SPAGHETTI dinner benefiting the Holy Angels Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program will be held March 2, in the Parish Hall from 4 to 7 p.m. Besides a dinner of salad, spaghetti, french bread, wine, dessert and coffee, there will be entertainment by "The Wandering Guitars." Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for children 6 to 12 years; and children 5 years and under will be fed free of charge. Bring the whole family for a Saturday night treat. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Rebecca Salazar, 756-6727. Helping prepare for the event are (from left) Bridget Zamora, Giget Zamora, and Mario Huerta.

A Busy Week of Activities For Terra Nova Students

By ANNE HILO

Campus Correspondent

San Francisco's Conservatory of Music presented a Jazz concert in Terra Nova's cafeteria during activity period Feb. 19.

The jazz pop group consisted of CMAESAR Cancino, v. played piano, Greg Bottini, who performed on drums, and Steve D'Amico, who played bass. The sax player, Brian Anderson, was not present.

Music played ranged from the year 1918 to contemporary songs, such as "Come Saturday Morning," and Antonio Carlos Jobim's, "I Will Wait for You — Meditations." The group's last number was originally written by a Cuban composer, as they added a touch of their own musical notes.

A Percussion Ensemble will be coming March 12, to perform in Terra Nova's choral room for the next activity period. The group is sponsored by the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. Other upcoming activities at Terra Nova will include Spirit Week, taking place for the rest of this week, starting today.

"Color-day" will be today, when a rally will be held with co-ed basketball games. Freshmen wear red; sophomores, gold; juniors, black; and seniors, white.

Tomorrow, "Crazy Day" will include students wearing "crazy" hats, faces, hair and shirts. Field Day, will also take place, and will consist of games for classes to compete for spirit points.

Games that will be played are the following: Tug of War, three-legged race, bubble gum blowing, pie eating, wheelbarrow and a potato pushing race (class advisors only play in this one).

"Super Day," on Friday will include a '50's rally, where one skit for a dance contest will occur. Faculty and students are asked to dress as people dressed in the '50's. Friday night, "Kid Kahoutek and the Shooting Stars" will perform for Terra Nova's spirit '50's dance, sponsored by the Executive Board.

Nursery School Flea Market Set

Parents of the Children's Community Nursery School in Daly City are collecting items to take to the Flea Market March 2.

Local residents are being asked to contribute anything that members of the school can sell to raise money for equipment and supplies. Small furniture items, knick-knacks, dishes, glassware, and children's toys and clothing are especially needed.

Parents will pick up donations and will provide a receipt for tax purposes. For pickup call 994-2061 or 755-9744.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Since today is Ash Wednesday, a meatless day for many, two recipes for entrees that are meatless seem in order.

SALMON NOODLE CASSEROLE

- 1 1-pound can salmon
- 2 cups medium white sauce
- 1 small package egg noodles
- 1/2 cup cracker or bread 2 tablespoons butter
- Salt and pepper

Prepare the white sauce. Drain and flake the one pound salmon and blend into white sauce and heat. While salmon is heating, cook the noodles as directed on package. Drain and pour noodles into buttered 2-quart casserole dish. Cover with creamed salmon. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread the half cup bread crumbs over top; dot with butter and bake in 375-degree oven for 15 minutes or until crumbs are nicely browned.

MEDIUM WHITE SAUCE

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Melt the four tablespoons butter in medium saucepan. Blend in the four tablespoons flour until smooth. Add the two cups milk gradually, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Reduce heat and cook for three minutes longer, stirring. Add the half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper and blend. Serves 4.

This next entree is a cheese pie with a delicious sauce. The sauce is a combination of onion, green pepper, tomatoes and mushrooms.

CHEESE PIE WITH CREOLE SAUCE

- 1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of paprika
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 cups milk, scalded
- 1 1/2 cups shredded process Swiss cheese

Prepare the pie shell, fluting edge with an upstanding collar. Beat the three eggs slightly; add the half teaspoon salt, dash of paprika and one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Melt the one and one-half cups cheese in the two cups scalded milk in double boiler and pour gradually over the beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Pour into pie shell; bake in 450-degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350-degrees and bake 30 minutes more, or until knife inserted 2 1/2-inches from center of pie comes out clean. Serve with sauce.

NOTE: I used a pyrex pan and baking time was only 20 minutes, so check the pie as it bakes.

CREOLE SAUCE

- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 1/2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes
- 1/4 cup sliced mushrooms, cooked or canned

Melt the three tablespoons butter in saucepan. Add the one-fourth cup each onion and green pepper; cook and stir until onion is transparent, not brown. Combine one teaspoon salt, one and one-half tablespoons each sugar and cornstarch; add to vegetables. Drain and add the fourth cup mushrooms. Lastly, add the one and one-half cups tomatoes. Cook and stir until smooth and thickened. Serves 6.

Students to Compete For Art Scholarship

High school art students will display their paintings on Serramonte Shopping Center's Mall, April 19 through 21.

The students are competing for a $500 scholarship and three runner-up prizes of $50, offered by the Serramonte Center Merchants Association. A perpetual trophy will be awarded for best school participation.

Invitations have been sent to area art departments, but a student may enter the show regardless of whether or not the school or class is participating.

For the past two years, Crestmoor High School has won the perpetual trophy, as well as the first place scholarship. Last year Jose P. Haz won the first place scholarship. The perpetual trophy remains with the winning school for one year.

Students interested in participating should contact their school art supervisor or send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Promotion Department, No. 3 Serramonte Center, Daly City, Calif., 94015, for details.

Brass, Organ At Broadmoor Service Sunday

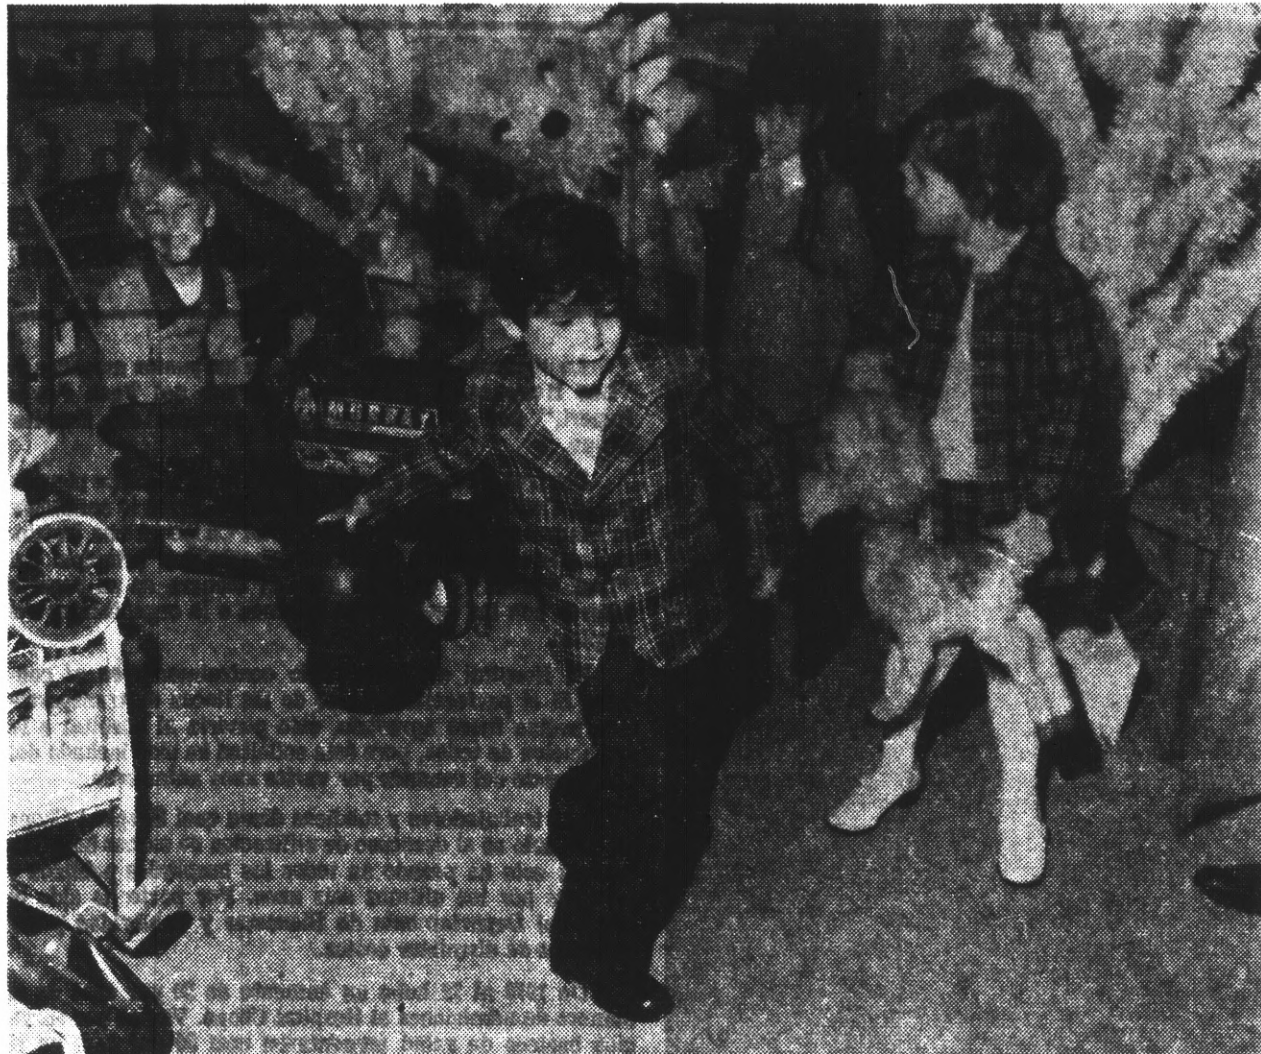

The theme of "Giving Praise to God" will be used at the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 87th St., Daly City.

The service begins with brass instruments, organ and 30-voice choir singing "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee."

After a hymn of praise is sung by the congregation, the brass and organ and choir combine in the great anthem "Jahzet dem Herren, alle Welt" (Shout to the Lord God).

After scripture is read the anthem "A Legend" by Tchaikovsky is sung. The pastor, Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie, preaches on the subject, "Giving Praise to God," and officiates with church elders in the observance of the sacrament of communion of the Lord's Supper.

Sunday school is held during the hour of worship, and a coffee time is held following the service in the social hall.

BRAD DIODATI MAKES a strike at the annual rummage sale of the Westlake Catholic Women. Others pictured are (from left) Timmy Curran, Lynda Diodati and Jo Ann Savage. The sale will be held in Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall, 1 Elmwood Drive, Daly City, March 1 and 2 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Refreshments will be available during the two-day event. Donations to the sale may be left at the parish hall during school hours. For assistance with large items or for further information, contact Mrs. John Pappas or Robert Curran, chairmen of the sale.

'Magic' Evening All Souls' Fashion Show

The All Souls Women's Club of South San Francisco will present their annual fashion show on March 23 at the All Souls Church Hall, Walnut and Miller Avenues.

There will be a no-host cocktail hour between 6 and 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

"A Magic Evening In Spring" is the theme selected, according to Mrs. James J. Ruiz and Mrs. Billy D. Williamson, co-chairwomen.

Spring fashions for both men and women will be shown. Modeling women's fashions from Henry's Fashion Center, San Francisco, will be: Mmes. Mark Welker, Dale Kuersten, Sam Balestieri, George Burke, Joseph Fregosi, Fausto Santos, Al DeVos, George Bugnatto, and Miss Diane DeVos. Men's fashions from Maffei's Men's Wear and Santini & Rocucci, South San Francisco, will be modeled by Messrs. Gordon Capurro, Paul Pettigrew, Dale Kuersten, Patrick O'Leary and Brother Michael Kelly.

The following committee chairwomen are helping with the event: Mmes. Gordon Capurro, reservations; Ernest Uccelli, decorations and programs; Virgil E. Botini, hostesses; Aldo Maltoni, special awards; Joe I. DeLuca, models; Sam Sappingfield, door prizes; Joseph C. Regalia, publicity; William Bramble, table favors. Commentator and fashion coordinator is Henry Metz. Proceeds from the show will benefit the All Souls parish subsidy fund.

Reservations may be obtained at the All Souls rectory, Walnut and Miller Avenues, on the following dates: March 4 and 5, 10 a.m.-noon; March 6 and 7, 8 p.m.-9 p.m.; March 8, 7 p.m.-8 p.m.

McGovern, Penna Exchange Vows

Frances McGovern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGovern of South San Francisco, recently became the bride of John R. Penna. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Penna who also live in South San Francisco.

The couple exchanged vows before the Rev. John Cloherty at St. Veronica's Church. A reception followed at the San Mateo Elks Club.

When the bride walked to the altar with her father, she was dressed in a white satin gown styled with pearl beading and appliqued with lace.

Honor attendant for her sister was Colleen McGovern, who wore a green crushed velvet gown with a halter neckline. Similar styles in gold were worn by matron of honor Nancy Kling and bridesmaid Janet Questoni. Lynette Stapleton, another bridesmaid, wore a green costume identical to the maid of honor's dress. Flower girls for their sister's wedding were Pamela and Jacqueline McGovern who wore velvet frocks.

John asked his brother, Robert Penna, to serve as best man. Tom McGovern, brother of the bride, shared ushering duties with Rich Questoni and Joe Benetti.

A kindergarten teacher for the South San Francisco Unified School District, the new matron is a graduate of Mercy High School and San Jose State University. She is on the faculty at Monte Verde School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of South San Francisco High School, San Francisco State University. He is a real estate broker.

The couple honeymooned in Hawaii and is now living in South San Francisco.

On Terrorism

Once children were kidnapped and sent to remote colonies for service. Once sailors and soldiers were taken from the ships of one company for service on the vessels of another. Once men were afraid to walk on the waterfronts of the world for fear of being shanghaied for back-breaking work in a far-off part of the world or upon a ship that seldom docked.

The kidnaping of Patricia Hearst serves to remind us that man — notwithstanding his civilization — is still capable of terrorism as harsh as that of ancient times. Witness this report from the Feb. 25 issue of Newsweek. "Over the past six years American intelligence experts have chronicled a total of 432 major acts of international terrorism, including 235 bombings, 94 hijackings and at least 57 kidnappings. All told at least 196 people died and another 300 were injured as a result of those operations, and property damage and ransom payments ran to uncounted millions."

Such crime, says the Encyclopedia Britannica, is possible because of the maintenance of criminal discipline by unlawful groups within the United States. The results of organized crime led Jay Robert Nash to write, "Today the noise the criminal makes is muffled by the monolithic crime syndicate. . . . Unlike Jesse James, America's most famous outlaw, today, syndicate criminal is protected through bribery, blackmail, and the screen of an economy in which he plays a large part as a legitimate business man on the one hand and a secret lawbreaker on the other."

Mr. Nash, who has become America's foremost historian of crime in the United States has produced a book entitled "Bloodletters and Badmen."

It was written with the hopes that "the reader will come away with a new understanding of the depths of inhumanity executed by those sane and mad criminals constantly within our midst."

Reading Mr. Nash's account of the kidnaping of the Lindbergh child in 1932 pin-points its similarities with the abduction of Patricia Hearst. Charles Lindbergh, like Randolph Hearst, tried everything — perhaps too much — to attempt to retrieve his tragic curly haired child. He enlisted the aid of gangsters and speakeasy proprietors to find the kidnapers and act as intermediaries in paying the ransom.

In both cases the parents asked the authorities to go easy lest the victim be harmed, armed. In both incidents the kidnapers made demands and named the go betweens. In both cases the fathers of the victims made great effort to comply with the kidnapers demands.

In both cases witnesses were able to give the police descriptions of the Kidnapper, yet the police could not or were unable to make an arrest, and in the Lindbergh case, save the victim's life.

Whatever will be the fate of Patricia Hearst, her case is another in a long line of American tragedies. Other chapters are carefully described in Mr. Nash's book, "Bloodletters and Badmen" is a timely book that is becoming an important reference tool.

It lays to American's themselves the blame for their horrible record as a crime ridden people. "The hunger for legends — a greed for sensation, peculiarly American," Mr. Nash writes, gave rise to the gangsters that have plagued the United States.

Friends Review Continues

Richard Stoddard Aldrich's "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A." will be reviewed by Mrs. Lloyd Wilson for The Friends of the Daly City Library at the Bayshore Branch Library, 2960 Geneva Avenue, Feb. 28, at 10:15 a.m.

Book Review Chairwoman Mrs. H. C. Kincaid invites the public to attend this fourth day-time review in The Friends' 1973-74 series. These series are among the oldest in continuous existence in the state. The event will also serve as a celebration of The Friends' 18th birthday.

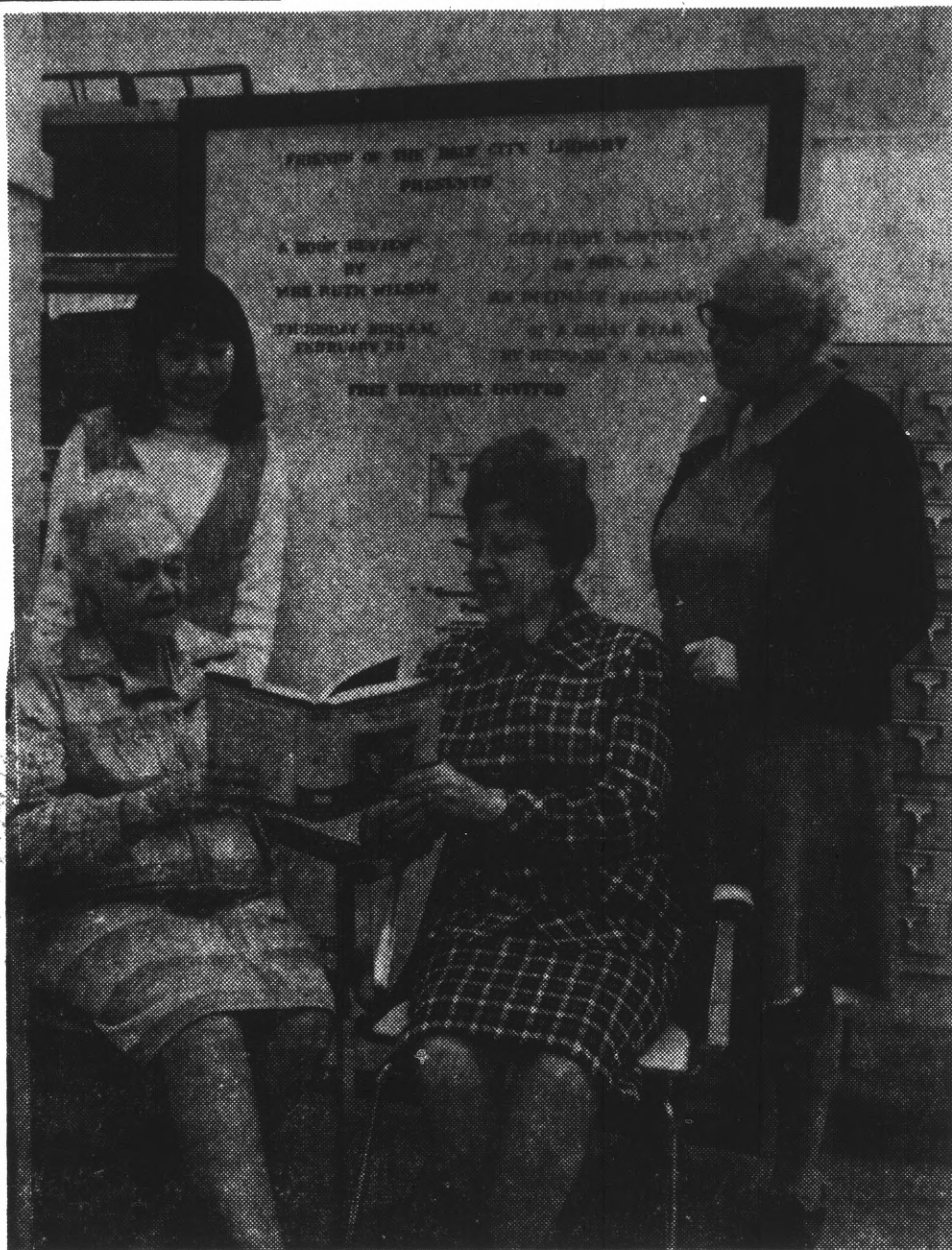

Mrs. Wilson, a member of The Friends, will review for the local group for the first time. She is a member of the Literature Department and reviewer for the American Association of University Women.

Noel Coward described the late, English-born Miss Lawrence as his favorite among leading actresses. Who better could have captured in print an intimate portrait of the talented performer than Aldrich, her American husband, producer of many successful theatrical productions?

Elvera Sunell, hospitality chairwoman, will hostess a coffee social prior to the review. She will be assisted by Mmes. Klaus Tschorsing, Anthony Barichievich and Thomas Donohue.

Mrs. Wilson will be honored at a no-host luncheon at The Winners Restaurant, 2101 Geneva Ave., following the program.

Reservations may be made at the review.

MRS. LLOYD WILSON (seated left) will review Richard Stoddard Aldrich's "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A." an intimate biography of the late, internationally known English entertainer, for The Friends of the Daly City Library at the Bayshore Branch Library, 2960 Geneva Ave., Feb. 28, at 10:15 a.m. The occasion is also a celebration of The Friends' 18th birthday. Seated next to Mrs. Wilson is Mrs. H. C. Kincaid and standing (from left) are Juliana Cheng, head librarian, and Mrs. Stella Filarski, librarian. (George Brooke Photo)

Equal Opportunity Laws and Fraud

Serramonte Sets Multiethnic Day

Serramonte students will be sharing their various heritages with others March 6 as part of multi-ethnic day at the school.

In order for parents to view some of the exhibits a multi-ethnic dessert and coffee hour will be held in the school cafeteria in conjunction with a parents' meeting.

All parents are invited to come and bring an ethnic dessert to share with others.

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor of BBB Barometer
Since the beginning of Equal Opportunity legislation, it has reported many unscrupulous promoters, using the civil rights program to further their own private gains, have shown up in the advertising solicitation field.

The promoters present themselves as official advertising agencies or as representatives of a publication. They set up a typical boiler room. Telephone solicitors are employed on commission basis to place calls, both local and long distance, to the top executives throughout the nation.

The executive is told that the caller represents a minority group or publication. The caller will often claim the publication to have a national distribution. If the caller does not actually say the publication to be national, by the use of words "national" or "international" such an inference is created. Also the claim is often made that the publication is a "special edition," sometimes in the name of a famous person.

The solicitors imply that the proceeds of the advertise-ing will go to various community projects, particularly to activities in the minority areas. They imply that the employers who do not place advertising in the publication are not fulfilling the requirements of the equal opportunity law by making every effort to reach minority applicants. The pitchmen frequently claim advertising has been run the previous year. This claim is usually a misrepresentation.

The Council of Better Business Bureaus recommend that a firm solicited in this manner should take the following steps to make certain that the group is a bona fide organization and one that does publish and circulate in accordance with the rate asked for advertising.

—Take the solicitor's name and phone number.
—Request that the advertising offer be made in writing.

—Ask for sample copies and a sworn statement attesting to the actual circulation of the publication.

—Check your records carefully to see whether or not advertising was taken the previous year.

—Check with your Better Business Bureau before making the final decision.

New JUHSD Ecology Program Set

Schools belonging to the Jefferson Union High School District will be participating in a new ecology program.

John Angle, district supervisor of buildings and ground, has made arrangements with the Alvin E. Bertrand Co., Ltd. to collect all waste paper, glass, tin and metals from all the schools' cafeterias and district office.

The company will provide special containers for the collections of all waste materials which will be placed in the faculty rooms, offices and cafeterias.

Students will be permitted to put only paper in the waste paper baskets and milk cartons and other things in the regular garbage cans.

After the schools establish an efficient working system, certain days will be set aside in order for students to bring newspapers, tin, glass and aluminum to school.

"This system may take the place of our once a month recycling program, which has not been a great success," commented Don Martin, Westmoor High School's Planning Committee advisor.

An Open Letter to the People of the Jefferson School District

A careful review of the history of cooperation between the City of Daly City and the Jefferson Elementary School District will show that the hand of friendship extended by the City to the Schools is generally empty. When the Council's representatives stand before the School Board, it is usually for the purpose of promoting District land for streets or sewers; or for an increase in the funds the district contributes to the City Recreation Program.

When the School District asks to temporarily rent the City's Gymnasium in Westlake Park to provide rainy day PE, it cannot be discussed unless the District will also discuss other parts of the Joint Use and Contribution Plan.

It is within the authority of the City Council to enforce the regulations of the Federal Government requiring Community Antenna Television Companies to provide service to public schools and other agencies. The city fire station on Lincoln Avenue is hooked up to cable television. In fact, the cable crossed school district land without permission to reach the fire station. Yet, the two schools on the site of the trespass were not connected. District representatives at Public Hearings held by the City Council are misunderstood, and the City can not discuss the failure of the Cable Company to fulfill the terms of its franchise.

When the City plans a transportation system, it does not consult the School District. It is evident that their interest does not lie in helping the District cut its $100,000 yearly transportation budget. On the other hand, when they wake up to realize that the Schools' transportation budget might be used to help support their transportation system; they'll be around.

When the City lobbies for San Bruno Mountain, it forgets that it is already part of our school districts. When the people move in with their children, if they have no school on the mountain the children will go to school in Daly City. Of course, after the boulevards are in and the land is built on, the School District will be expected to solve the problem.

When the City Council suddenly picks a plan and becomes its own redevelopment agency, it does not inquire of the School District about the effects of such a plan on schools. It does not even inform the District that the chosen plan cuts the District completely out of any increased revenue from increased property value in the redeveloped area.

It is difficult to believe that these situations do not arise from some deliberate plan or callous attitude. However, it may be really only lack of understanding. For this reason, I am supporting the candidacy of a person who can educate the ignorance of the Council on the hardships they visit on the schools by their actions.

If you believe this is a worthwhile reason, please join me at the polls on March 5 to elect William Schumacher to the Daly City Council.

Sincerely,
Dorothy D. Adams

Salud Para la Gente Health for People

By Keevin Davis and Carmen Olivares

Lo siguiente contiene algunos de los puntos mayores de "Las Respuestas a las conclusiones del Task Force Report," por los trabajadores y medicos del Hospital Chocho.

Los trabajadores y medicos del Hospital Chocho piensan que el Task Force no concenro sus esfuerzos lo suficiente en maneras de convertir al Hospital Chocho en una institucion eficiente. Esta era la responsabilidad principal del "Task Force," y ellos de ninguna manera en su reporte lidiaron con las operaciones internas o la organizacion del hospital.

El Hospital esta localizado centralmente en el condado. Si el perfeccionamiento de las lineas de transportacion pedido fuera aprobado, esto pondria al hospital a la disposicion de todos, pero esta solicitud ha sido lachada del presupuesto del condado por varios anos anteriores.

Los trabajadores y medicos dicen quel Hospital Chocho no esta solo en el descenso de utilizacion de camas hospitalitarias; esto ha pasado en todos los hospitales publicos y privados por los ultimos seis anos. Por parte ha sido la culpa del Departamento de Bienestar y Salubridad y sus esfuerzos de disminuir costos.

De 1970 al 72 hubo un aumento de 30 per cent en el numero de admisiones al Hospital Chocho. Visitas por servicios basicos de salud aumentaron casi 20 per cent en el mismo periodo. En 1973 hubo un descaecimiento de 25 per cent en el numero de visitas por servicios de salud basicos pero esto fue a causa del condado hacer mas dificiles las normas de elegibilidad.

No aparecen datos creibles acerca de costos del Hospital Chocho, otros hospitales en el condado, o acerca del Modelo 2 propuesto por el "Task Force."

Los expertos responsables por edificar mas al hospital en el medado de los sesentas, no seran mas exactos en profetizar las necesidades de los residentes del condado de San Mateo en el futuro.

MUCHO DEL MOVIMIENTO para cerrar el Hospital Chocho viene por parte de hospitales privados que quiren mejorar su eficiencia al absorber algunos pacientes publicos por los cuales pago es garantizado.

Cuando centros de salud de la comunidad han existido, la necesidad por camas hospitalitarias y cuidado especial ha aumentado. Cuando condados han cerrado su hospital publico, no hay pruebas que un plan descentralizado halla proveido mas o mejor cuidado medico para el cliente publico.

Conclusiones de los trabajadores y medicos del Hospital Chocho:

El "Task Force" delara quel cuidado medico centralizado resultara en menos costo y servicios aumentado. Adonde estan los datos para respaldar estas conclusiones?

El Modelo 2 es un sistema imaginario el cual solo existe en el reporte del "Task Force." Nunca ha sido implementado, es definido en terminos inciertos y no se sabe que calidad de cuidado sera ofrecida.

El reporte de Task Force es una presentacion de conclusiones torcidas, decididas de antemano por el Departamento de Bienestar y Salubridad para cerrar el Hospital Chocho y eliminar al gobierno del condado como un proveedor de cuidado de salud.

Tambien conducimos una entrevista con Chuck Keaty, Dircot del Centro de Salud de Guadalupe para obtener algunas de sus ideas acerca del tema del Hospital Chocho y como afectaria la vida diaria de los miembros de la comunidad.

"El cerramiento de Chocho es mucho mas que una recomendacion de cerrar el hospital del condado. El verdadero punto es la redefinicion de la responsabilidad del condado a proveer cuidado medico para aquellos que no pueden pagar.

HAY PUNTOS positivos y negativos sobre los dos sistemas propuestos. Pero como el reporte del "Task Force" no es facil de entender, les tratare de dar algunos de los puntos generales y mis propias opiones acerca de como afectaran esta comunidad.

Uno de los puntos positivos del sistema centralizado es que al presente el personal medico del Hospital Chocho esta bien organizado pero el problema de transportacion seria un gran obstaculo y el sistema descentralizado cuesta como 2 millones menos.

El sistema descentralizado tambien tiene sus puntos positivos y negativos. La gente pudiera adquirir servicios medicos de buena calidad en ser propia comunidad, el costo es por lo menos 2 millones menos quel otro sistema, es una manera mejor de proveer cuidada medico ya que frecuencia de visitas y facilidad de transportacion estan relacionadas y pacientes podrian ir a centros de salud cercanos como el Centro de Guadalupe y el condado pagaria.

Como en el sistema centralizado tambien el sistema descentralizado tiene sus puntos negativos. No hay garantias que todos podran hacer uso del sistema medico y siempre existe el problema quel condado no de todos los fondos. Por eso dos seguridades tienen que venir del condado: quel condado proveera todos los fondos para este sistema y que habra una linea telefonica las 24 horas para asegurar contra problemas de alcance para el paciente.

Como Vds. saben el Centro de Guadalupe esta de acuerdo con el cerramiento del Hospital Chocho y la recomendacion del Task Force de adoptar el sistema descentralizado, pero la responsabilidad mas que todo esta en la comunidad para tomar parte en la decision de cual sistema les conviene mas.

The following are some of the major points from the "Response to the Conclusions of the Task Force Report," by the Chocho Hospital Medical Staff.

Chocho Medical Staff Members feel that the Task Force did not focus enough on ways to make Chocho Hospital a viable efficient institution. This was the major responsibility of the Task Force and nowhere did they deal with the internal operations or organization of the hospital.

Chocho Hospital is centrally located within the county. It requested transportation improvements were approved, this would make the hospital available to everyone, but their request has been deleted from the County budget over the past years.

The Staff feels that Chocho Hospital is not alone in declining utilization of hospital beds; they feel this has been the rule in all public and private hospitals throughout the country in the past years. This has been partially the fault of the Health and Welfare Department in its attempts to decrease costs.

From 1970-72 there was over a 30 per cent increase in the number of admissions at Chocho. Outpatient visits increased nearly 20 per cent over a similar period. In 1973, a 25 per cent drop in outpatient visits was caused by the county tightening its eligibility standards.

No reliable cost data are presented on Chocho Hospital, the other hospital in the county, or on the decentralized model proposed by the task force.

THE EXPERTS responsible for the hospital building boom in the mid-1960's will prove no more accurate in predicting the future needs of the people of San Mateo County.

Much of the momentum for closing Chocho has come from private hospitals seeking to improve their efficiency, by absorbing some public patients for whom payment is guaranteed. Their commitment to these patients is fiscal and transient. Many of the primary physicians of the community have not expressed a willingness to assume responsibility for the public patient.

Wherever community health centers have existed, the need for hospital beds and specialty care has increased. Wherever counties have closed their public hospitals, there is no evidence that a decentralized plan has provided more or better health care for the public patient.

Conclusions of Chocho Medical Staff:

A. The Task Force states that regionalized health care will result in decreased costs and increased services. Where is the data to support these conclusions.

B. Model II is an imaginary system which only exists in the Task Force Report. It is untried, and described in vague terms and the quality of care that will be delivered is uncertain.

C. The Task Force Report is a biased presentation of conclusions reached far in advance by the Dept. of Health and Welfare to close Chocho Hospital and to eliminate county government as a health care provider.

WE ALSO CONDUCTED an interview with Chuck Keaty, Executive Director of Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center, to get some of his ideas about the Chocho issue and how it would affect the everyday life in the community.

"The proposed closing of Chocho is much more than an issue of whether the county hospital is closed or not. The issue at hand is actually the redefining of the county's responsibility of providing health care for those who can't afford it.

Since the Task Force Report is not easy to understand, I can give some of my personal feeling and some general points on what affect it will have on the community.

One of the positive points in favor of Chocho, is their hospital staff is highly organized. Transportation would be a problem for those living in the northern and southern sectors of the County. The decentralized system is less costly by at least $2 million. We can see the inconvenience that the lack of adequate transportation would cause to those who do not live close to Chocho.

Some of the positive points of the regionalized health plan would be that people would be able to receive quality health care within a reasonable distance of their homes. The cost of health care would be less expensive as mentioned earlier. It's a better way of providing preventative care, since frequency of visits and transportation facilities go hand in hand. Patients could go to localized health centers, such as Guadalupe Health Center or Mary's Help and the county would pick up the tab.

Guadalupe Health Center has chosen to back the conclusions of the Task Force Report; that is to close Chocho Hospital and implement the decentralized health care plan. This decision of whether to close Chocho or to remain with Chocho open, is a decision that should be made by the citizens of this community. We hope that these last two articles have helped to clarify the issue and that the people will take part in the decision-making process.

Serra Ousted By Wildcats

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Two West Catholic Athletic League play-offs have left Serra High's basketball team with some distinct impressions about San Francisco.

The Padres won't be leaving their hearts there. Thursday night's 46-37 loss to St. Ignatius in the WCAL semifinals at USF marked the second consecutive season an otherwise brilliant Padre year had met a bitter end in the City.

Last February, Serra lost the title to Riordan with back-to-back losses.

The Padres appeared to have broken the jinx — or whatever — Wednesday night with a 54-50 stunner over round robin champ Riordan.

But against St. Ignatius, Serra hit a long dry spell after coming off some of its best offensive efforts of the season. St. Ignatius' superb defense helped, of course.

The Padre drought hit its low point in the third quarter when Serra came up with just two points while St. Ignatius widened a seven point halftime lead into a more formidable margin of 15.

Seconds into the final period, the count went to 41-24 when Serra made its final season gasp.

The Padres, keyed again as they have been all season by Buzz Harnett and Ron Jackson, ran off 11 straight points to pull within six with just under two minutes to go.

At 1:07 however, Serra missed the front end of a one-and-one chance that could have pulled the Padres to within four. St. Ignatius took a bucket seconds later to settle matters.

"It was asking an awful lot of our guys to make up that many points in such a short space of time," said Padre coach Pete Newell. "Yet, they almost did it. I'm very proud of the way they fought back."

Riordan took a lot out of us and it showed. The first two quarters were a half step slow. Then that third quarter it was a whole step. We just didn't have the time when we finally started to assert ourselves."

St. Ignatius, which took a nine-game winning streak into Monday night's WCAL title game with Riordan at USF, was able to build an early lead and keep it with balanced scoring from six different players.

Jackson, with 20 points, and Harnett, with 11, both wound up their prep careers with admirable efforts against St. Ignatius' vaunted front line. Team rebound totals were virtually deadlocked.

"I can't say enough about those two guys," said Newell. "We depended on them for a lot of things at both ends and they rarely had any kind of letdowns. They'll really be missed."

Harnett and Jackson were both named to the five-man all-WCAL team. Harnett was a repeater from last season.

Serra, which finished up 20-6 over-all, has a combined record of 40-11 over the past two seasons — by far the best consecutive efforts in school history.

Le Pacini Keith and the Cards

LOCAL NOTES: Former Pacifica and San Bruno prep star Keith Hernandez, a first baseman who can also play all the outfield positions, will be one of a four man contingent of non-poster St. Louis players at the Cardinal spring training camp.

Keith is highly regarded by the Cards. No wonder. When Stan the Man Musial saw Keith hit last year, he called him one of the best hitting prospects he had ever seen.

Two Pacificans recently took weightlifting honors in the Junior Olympic AAU meet held in Castro Valley. The Pacifica Bar Bell Club, coached by Dick Notmeyer, had just two entrants in the meet, but they both won first place in their class.

In the 12-13 age group, Dave Scheinholz won the 148 pound class with a total of 226 pounds lifted. Peter Hofman, 14, won in his age group with a total lift of 237 pounds.

Local former Mission High School athletes will be glad to know that the Silver Anniversary of the Mission High School Athletic Alumni banquet will be held March 8 at the Seven Hills Restaurant, 26 California St., near Market.

Drinking will begin at 7 p.m. and will be continued through the evening with a short intermission for dinner at 8 p.m. Give or take a few hours. Price for the dinner is $7, which includes tax and tips. You may spend all you wish to on booze.

FANS OF STANFORD'S outstanding quarterback, Mike Boryla, might vaguely know that his father, Vince, now a pro basketball executive and sometimes fight promoter, was once a standout college and professional basketball player. But probably few contemporary sports fans realize the impact that daddy Boryla had on college and pro basketball in his time.

If nothing else — but there were other things — Boryla had an influence on collegiate ball because he played it for almost a decade. He was 28 when he, along with Tony Lavelli, Alex Groza, Ed Macauley and Ralph Beard, made All American at the University of Denver in 1949, still only a junior.

The other things were that Boryla was 6-5, weighed 210 in his playing days, and had a virtually unstoppable hook shot. In the 1940's basketball players were supposed to be tall and skinny, not tall and built like tackles. Thus, when Boryla drove to the basket (which not many players did in those days) with his left arm in front of his body, positioned like a bulldozer shovel, his soft, over-the-head hook almost invariably floated into the basket. It was a beautiful example of the rewards of combining intimidation with finesse. There really wasn't, at that time, a defense or a defender who could stop it.

Although already an "old man" playing with kids in that season of '49, the father of two children broke the Skyline Six scoring record, averaging 18.9 points per game for the season and 19 points per game in the conference. Remember that that was in the days when many teams had a good scoring night when they hit 50 points. The next best scorer to Boryla in conference play averaged 15.1, while the nation's leader, that year, Lavelli, averaged 22.4, while Groza was the only other of the All American quintet to average over 20, hitting at a 20.5 clip. Boryla outscored the other All Americans, Macauley (15.5) and Beard (10.9).

HOW DOES A GUY last for nearly a decade in college basketball? In those days, it wasn't that difficult. Boryla had had an exceptional Indiana high school career when he entered Notre Dame, and immediately became a star. It was Boryla who led Notre Dame, until then only a "football school," to national basketball prominence.

After a season with the Fighting Irish, Boryla enlisted in the Air Corps, and continued to play basketball at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver. When the war ended, he stayed in Denver to play for the AAU Denver Nuggets, and in 1948 was on the United States Olympic basketball team in London. Following the Olympics, he enrolled at Denver U. to continue work on the degree he had started at Notre Dame.

Because of his size, scoring ability, tough rebounding and general good court sense, the New York Knickerbockers signed Boryla for the 1949-50 season, and with virtually no practice time before the season started, he averaged 10 points a game. The next season he averaged 15. He played three more years and retired after the 1953-54 season at age 34.

BASEBALL NOTES: How it escaped our attention last December, we'll never know, but one of those ridiculous things happened concerning All Star voting and other such nebulous forms of picking and choosing which seem endemic to sports.

Baltimore outfielder Al Bumbry was voted American League Rookie of the Year in both a poll of major league players conducted by The Sporting News, and by the Baseball Writers Association of America, who gave him a runaway vote (13 1/2 points of a possible 24) over five other serious contenders.

Another rookie Baltimore outfielder, Rich Coggins, also had a good year, but not the year Bumbry had. Bumbry had, after all, led the Orioles in hitting (.377) and triples (11) and finished second to Don Baylor in stolen bases (23).

Coggins was voted one of the three spots on the Topps Chewing Gum, Inc., Rookie All-Star team. Coggins had a good enough year (.319, 9 triples, 17 stolen bases) to make the team — no argument there — especially if Bumbry was also voted to the squad. But he wasn't! The other two positions went to the Giants' Gary Matthews and to Johnny Grubb of San Diego.

Obviously, Matthews and Grubb also had fine years. Matthews hit .300 and played nearly every game, so he definitely belonged. Bumbry, Coggins and Grubb were in the 110 game category due to injuries and platooning. Grubb hit .301, so perhaps he should have been omitted from the team, although he was on a par with and perhaps better than Bumbry and Coggins defensively.

If Topps was going for balance, i.e., didn't want two outfielders from the same team in their all-rookie outfield, the choice seemed obvious. Bumbry was clearly better than Coggins last year.

But those are the things that happen in professional sports award voting. Especially, apparently, when chewing gum companies make the choices.

Wrigley of high percentage hitters, official American League statistics, just recently released, showed a difference of 44 points between A.L. batting champ Rod Carew (.350) and the two runners-up, George Scott and Tommy Davis (.306).

We don't know if official records are kept on such trivia, but if that isn't the easiest major league batting title ever won, it has to rank among 'em.

Rams Whip El Camino

By JERRY LITTELL
Post Correspondent

Despite the Rams' 16-game win streak, which continued Saturday night with a 53-48 victory over El Camino, Westmoor remains a solid underdog to which ever strong WCAL representative appears.

Height was a factor in the Shaughnessy playoff finals at Skyline Saturday. Only this height translated into how far up Westmoor center Maurice Pittman could soar. Pittman made a shambles of Camino's inside defense with unerring accuracy (12 for 15) on his turnaround 10-foot jumpers.

The junior co-Most Valuable Player of the North Peninsula League poured through bucket after bucket until he had 18 at the half and 27 on the night. His dett touch enabled Westmoor to take a 27-24 intermission lead.

Camino never led, and when the Colts went scoreless in the opening 3 1/2 minutes of the third period, Westmoor crept up to as much as an 11-point lead before a final frantic fourth quarter.

The Colt full court press did not cause many turnovers, but it forced Westmoor to quicken its pace, and that resulted in forced shots.

With those shots missing, Camino made its final move with just over two minutes remaining.

After a John Christman follow-hook made it 48-46 Westmoor, with 0:50 left, things got hairy.

Westmoor had missed four of five free throws in the period, but three total charity shots by Ted Scott and Rob Baptista (who had earlier missed four straight) moved the advantage to 51-46 at 0:29.

El Camino was forced to foul almost every time Westmoor got the ball in the final minute.

Riordan vs. Westmoor

It will be Riordan High versus NPL champion Westmoor in the first round of the Central Coast Section's Region I basketball playoffs Thursday night at College of San Mateo.

Riordan got the Region I berth Monday night with a 55-45 win over St. Ignatius in the West Catholic Athletic League playoff championship game at USF.

Riordan mixed tough defense inside in the second half with hot shooting by forward Jim Donovan to overcome a 33-28 halftime deficit.

Skyline Spikers Beat CSM Bulldogs

Skyline College, boasting both depth and good individual performances, topped visiting College of San Mateo in a nonleague track meet Friday, 95-40.

Seven meet records were broken and one tied. CSM nabbed just one of the marks — a 136-1 discus throw by sophomore Phil Williamson. Skyline took both relays and completely dominated its greatest strength, the hurdles.

Bart Pierce broke the old 120HH record by over a second with a 14.4 clocking; freshman teammate Ike Allmond finished second with the same time and Tom Swartzell did 14.9. Swartzell set a record in the shot (45-1 1/2) and ran on both relay teams.

Jim Wyatt set a new meet 440 hurdles standard at 55.8, with Pierce and Allmond placing.

CSM took the vertical jumps (Mike Hallett pole vaulted 13-0) and Ed Rios won the two mile (10:01.5).

State Test For Skyline

Skyline College will send four wrestlers to the State tournament in Sacramento after fine performances in the Northern California Section tournament Friday. Canada will send two.

Skyline also finished third in team scoring, behind Chabot and Diablo Valley.

One Skyline wrestler, freshman Steve Cook from Crestmoor High, dominated his 150-pound class completely and came away with a first.

Ron Cole (167s) took a second, John Fritz (190s) a third and Allen Piccolotti (158s) a fourth. All advance to the State level. So will teammate Jun Takao (126s), who took a fifth and gets an alternate's spot.

Canada players were Mike Perry (third in 26s) and John Salinas (fourth in 142s).

The State tournament will be held March 1-2 at American River College in Sacramento.

CSM Nine Wins Two

College of San Mateo's baseball team ran its practice record to 5-0 Friday, sweeping a doubleheader from Santa Rosa in the Santa Rosa Tournament.

The Bulldogs squeezed by 2-1 in the opener and outthit the Bearcats 7-4 in the second.

The Bulldogs got a good — and necessary — job from top pitcher Mark Souza in the opener.

"For the first game, anyway, Santa Rosa was very impressive," said CSM coach John Noce. "So I think the game was a good test. We didn't hit the ball like we did last week, though."

CSM opens Golden Gate Conference play in just two weeks. Will the Bulldogs be ready? "They'll be quite a bit ready," said Noce.

CSM Cagers Top SJCC

Craig Nance and Hollister Savidge were the foxes in the henhouse Friday night as College of San Mateo took a 72-60 basketball win over host San Jose.

Regular center Tony Williams sat out all but the last eight minutes, so Savidge and Nance dropped toward the basket out of CSM's zone offense, got fed constantly and scored a bunch.

Nance, closing on the Golden Gate Conference scoring lead, pumped in 28 and Savidge had 12. The pair combined for 29 rebounds.

Guard Ron Doss enjoyed one of his best nights of the season, hitting for 17 and pulling down nine rebounds.

Toto's Contest Winners Named

In one of the most exciting contests co-sponsored by Toto's Restaurant and the Daly City Recreation Division, over 75 eager boys and girls attended the finals of the 4th Annual Toto's Free Throw Contest Feb. 16 at the War Memorial Community Center.

In order to have qualified to attend the finals, contestants first had to win at their local playground against other contestants of their own grade.

This year's competition was highlighted by the largest number of contestants, the highest shooting score achieved by Mike Levy of the High School Division who completed 14 out of 15 shots attempted and many ties resulting in shot-offs for the top honors.

Successful contestants included: fourth grade boys — Herb Trautner, first place, Westmoor Park; Edwin Bulos, second place, Westmoor Park; Blake Erntling, third place, Westlake School.

Fourth Grade Girls — Laura Prado, first place, Abraham Lincoln; Brenda Silverman, second place, Westlake School; Melissa Candau, third place, Skyline School.

Fifth Grade Boys — Dave Schembri, first place, Panorama School; Robbie Mascheroni, second place, Westlake School; Celso Alhambra, third place, Marchbanks Park.

Fifth Grade Girls — Lisa Prado, first place, Abe Lincoln; Kathy Bolger, second place, Vista Mar.

Sixth Grade Boys — Michael Candau, first place, Skyline School; Danny Celestino, second place, Marchbanks Park; David Vincent, third place, Westmoor Park.

Sixth Grade Girls — Donna Crawford, first place, Geo. Washington; Jackie Bender, second place, Woodrow Wilson; Linda Prado, third place, Abe Lincoln.

Seventh Grade Boys — Jim Byrne, first place, Westlake Community Center; Tim Tompkins, second place, Colma; Wayne Henderson, third place, Geo. Washington.

Seventh Grade Girls — Robin Homer, first place, Vista Mar.

Eighth Grade Boys — John Cosmo, first place, Woodrow Wilson; Doni Pitruzello, second place, Marchbanks Park; Louis Tinsley, third place, Northridge Park.

Eighth Grade Girls — Bonnie Nakamura, first place, Northridge; Eileen Ruggin, second place, George Washington; Sue Murray, third place, Westlake Community Center.

High School Boys — Mike Levy, first place, Marchbanks Park; Jim O'Callaghan, second place, Westlake Community Center; Mike Simon, third place, Little Jeff.

Those Jogging Addicts

(This is the first in a series of articles on jogging. This week, the benefits.)

By DICK DRAPER
Post Sports Writer

More than 300 addicts were in San Mateo several weeks ago.

But the police didn't hassle them — they guided them. None was on methadone, and referees were non-existent.

They were hooked, all of them. On running. The high they got was from oxygen coursing through their arteries, from the exhilarating feeling of exercise, from the painful pleasure of taxing their bodies to the limit.

These were the elite joggers: the marathoners competing in the national AAU women's marathon and the West Valley Track Club's regional 26-mile, 385-yard event.

Yet they were hardly Frank Shorters or Derek Claytons. They were housewives, children, doctors, blue-collar workers, white-collar workers, ring-around-the-collar workers. And their goal was the same — enjoy life with a healthy body.

One such entrant was Dr. Joan Ulyot, 33, a research physiologist for the Institute of Medical Sciences in San Francisco, who finished eleventh overall in the women's field.

She is a disciple of jogging, and she is spreading the gospel.

"You don't have to be anybody special to jog — the average clod can do it," Dr. Ulyot said.

"I did it. When I turned 30 I was feeling sluggish and getting heavy around the hips. A girl told me that jogging can reduce hips, and after a few days I had a great feeling of accomplishment just moving.

"And, in a few months, I went from a size 14 to a size 10."

Jogging can be fun, she insists. If it is done properly, and in a few months the pulse rate will drop, blood pressure will descend, and a general feeling of fitness will prevail.

"Running is good for relieving tensions and the pain of migraine," explained Dr. Ulyot. "And most of the time you have more energy. I used to take a nap in the afternoon, but not anymore. If you jog, you won't feel sluggish, and constipation is never a worry."

Another disciple of running and exercise in general is Dr. C. Harmon Brown of San Mateo, director of student health services at Cal State-Hayward and a member of the U.S. Olympic Committee for women's athletics.

"Everyone should go to a doctor to find out whether they're healthy enough to afford NOT to exercise," said Dr. Brown, who specializes in studying body mechanisms of women and girl runners.

"When in training, a runner's resting heart rate is lowered. If your heart rate is 55 versus an untrained rate of 75, you can save thousands of heartbeats."

Reduction of fat is a primary benefit of jogging, Dr. Brown said. "When you exercise, the body fat is mobilized, and you tend to lose weight and increase the amount of muscle."

"For the average woman in her late teens or early 20's, 25 to 30 per cent of her body weight is fat, while in women runners it's down to about 10 to 12 per cent."

"The average man carries eight to 10 per cent body fat, but the long distance runners have only two to four per cent — they're quite lean," Dr. Brown noted.

Both Dr. Brown and Dr. Ulyot agree that the average American, the so-called "norm" of physicians' charts, is just that: average. And by no means fit.

"Fit persons are really abnormal," points out Dr. Ulyot, who decries the fact that many medical men and women see only the sedentary and the sick, and consider the slow pulse rate and low blood pressure of runners as dangerous. They think something's wrong.

"I regard daily running as something the body was meant to do," said Dr. Ulyot. "It benefits you physically and mentally. Your heart becomes stronger and more efficient."

"The normal pulse rate is 70 to 90, and I consider that unfit. Below 50 is good. You can have a pulse rate of 30 without any ill effects. Hal Higden, a runner, has a rate of 30 to 32, while Australian swimmer Shane Gould's pulse rate is about 36."

"Mine," says Dr. Ulyot, "is 45."

"Blood pressure can be lowered also. Running improves the circulation and counteracts the pressure-raising effects. I know of some joggers who have given up their blood pressure pills."

PAL Warriors End as Victors

PAL Warriors ended up the year on a victorious note in the eighth grade Boys' Basketball League sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division with a 73-16 triumph over St. Andrews "B."

The win tied the Warriors for first with St. Andrews "A." OLM edged Holy Angels 31-3 to throw the fourth place spot into a three-way tie. OLPH squeaked by Hunts 38-36 to end up in third place.

In the Eastern Division, PAL Lakers ended up undefeated after handling St. Thomas More Saints 48-22. LBVA ended one game behind PAL with a 47-35 victory over the PAL Bucs Joe Newhoff and Shawn Wallace scored 14 and 12 points respectively to aid the OLM Red Shoes in their 44 to 20 triumph over OLM Chargers.

OLM Chiefs easily defeated the PAL Panthers 45-12 to end the year with a perfect 5-0 record. Jim Conway tallied 11 for the victorious Chiefs. OLPH Warriors remained in second with a 28-23 win over OLM Pirates behind Mark Coleman's 14 points. St. Andrews won a cliffhanger from SAL 21-20 with Melvin Sears scoring 8 points.

In the Western Division, PAL Tigers assured themselves of a playoff spot with a 46-37 triumph over SAL Tigers. Noel Farr led the winners with 17 while Bob Christman scored 13 for SAL. In a battle for first place, LBVA Hustlers outlasted LBVA Warriors 40-35. Darrell Jackson scored 12 for the Hustlers and Tony Limatau also hit 12 for the Warriors. OLM easily handled Holy Angels 52-9 behind the 15 point spree by Kevin Mahoney.

In the sixth grade Northern Division, St. Andrews Scots defeated PAL Warriors 45-31 in a very good team effort. It was a well played game as the Scots showed their great bench strength in this contest.

In the sixth grade Western, St. Andrews Blues easily handled OLM 30-13. Once again it was a case of an exceptionally strong bench that told the story.

In the sixth grade Eastern Division playoffs, OLM Shockers defeated St. Thomas More 19-14 to remain undefeated in the league. SAL Knickerbockers also won 30-27 over St. Andrews Scots to set up next week's contest: OLM (vs.) SAL.

In the fifth grade Western, OLM Warriors remained in first place with a 41-20 triumph over LBVA. Tom Feeney tallied 19 for OLM while Key Gayton hit 10 for LBVA. St. Andrews Scots remained tied for second with a 24-12 victory over PAL Cougars.

Ward Donnelly led the way for the Scots with 13 points. OLPH Orioles also remained in second place with a 21-15 triumph over Holy Angels Snakes. Mike Candau scored 13 for OLPH and Chris Chiappari scored 12 for Holy Angels.

LBVA remained in first with a 27-11 victory over St. Andrews Scots behind St. Vaccaro's 8 points. St. Andrews Greys defeated SAL Superstars 21-11.

Dog Nine Wins

College of San Mateo finished practice season play Saturday with a pair of wins over Butte for the Santa Rosa Tournament championship.

The Bulldogs, 7-0, took the first game 6-1 and the second 6-4. They'll practice and scrimmage until their Golden Gate Conference opener against visiting Laney March 5.

In other community college baseball over the weekend, Skyline's record dropped to 3-11 with three losses in four games at the Ventura Tournament.

The Trojans lost to the Cal Poly JVs 7-2, lost to Santa Barbara 11-7, beat eventual division winner Los Angeles Valley 10-7 and lost the tourney consolation game to Reedley, 5-4.

Skyline plays in the Peninsula Tournament this week.

In the second win over Butte, CSM pitcher Gavin Long gave up three runs in the first inning, but the Bulldogs came back with four in the fifth and two in the seventh while Long was holding the line.

Butte's hurler had a no-hitter going for four innings. In the fifth two Bulldogs scored when Butte's second baseman mishandled Joe Berriatua's grounder. Then, with two on, catcher Brian Buckley slammed a triple.

The winning runs in the seventh came on two walks, an error, a wild pitch and an infield out.

Frank Weber pitched Skyline's lone win over LA Valley; he was hit, but the Trojan defense was tight. Steve Javier made two saving catches in center field. Jim Romero knocked a homer and Miles Mintle a triple in the win.

Gary Hart shut Reedley out for six innings in the consolation game, allowed a freak run in the seventh, but ran into trouble in the eighth. Bob Trask and Steve Ballas doubled for the Trojans, to no avail.

Top Panthers

Serra High's tennis team scored an easy 5-2 non-league win over Burlingame Friday afternoon.

The Padres captured four of five singles and one doubles match enroute to victory. Steve Howell led the Serra attack from his third singles spot. He rallied from two match points to win a three set match.

Ski Tips

By Don Cappa

1. Do not leave your skis on top of the car in the evening. To deter theft, take skis in house or back in car.

2. While having lunch, lock skis in rack, or split them up by placing one here, and one at another location.

3. Do not leave boots in car over night. The plastic will stiffen and make entry into boot almost impossible.

4. Always take a pair of after ski boots with you. Use ski boots to ski, and not to walk.

5. It is not advisable to loan your boots to another individual. No two feet are shaped alike; the hours of breaking in a boot can be lost with a short term loan.

Judo Finals at Skyline

Entries are now being accepted for the fifth annual United States Judo Association Junior Nationals, to be held at July 26-27 at Skyline College.

The tournament, co-sponsored by the Cahill Judo Academy, the Napa Judo Club and the Zenbei Judo Club, is open to all male contestants, ages 8 through 18, and female contestants, 16 years and under.

Current AAU judo rules will apply and trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place finishers in each division. Over 1,000 entrants are expected.

According to tournament director Willy Cahill, all entries must be postmarked by July 1. Entries should be addressed to: Tournament Director, 1974 Junior Nationals, 636 San Mateo Ave., San Bruno 94066.

"Yards" of Parking At Scotty Campbell's

No parking problems at Scotty Campbell's, what with "yards of it" available to guests on both sides of the Redwood City restaurant. Every evening is a business boom at this handsome dinner house, which is owned and operated by Mary Lou Fox and Theresa and Bud Urban. Specializing in steaks and prime rib, appetites are appeased by the efforts of chefs with culinary imagination. Celebrities from all medias are regular Scotty Campbell's diners when performing or visiting in the Bay Area. Michel and Nadia Janicka, the young couple who first established Le Parisien in Burlingame, have returned to the helm of this charming French restaurant. Which means that the outstanding cuisine and atmosphere is again as patrons remembered them. Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach, wants Bright Light's readers to be aware of the fact that in addition to pizzas, he also specializes in Italian dinners that come complete with everything you could ask for. Patrons at the Sunday Ramos Fizz Brunch at Lehr's Greenhouse in San Francisco have a choice of a fizz or a Bloody Mary — included in the price. Also included in the modest $3.95 tab: Eggs Benedict, in addition to any or all of a huge array of gourmet specialties.

Where Shall We Purchase The Cake?

Besides serving excellent food, the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto and the Stickney restaurant chain are also noted for their delicious bakery goods. If you're planning a special party, and the question "Where shall we purchase the cake?" is asked, Stickney's is the answer for the confection taste treat. Garden Restaurant complex, located on the lower level of San Bruno's Tanforan Park Shopping Center, is bound to please the appetites of every member in your family. You'll find a variety of menu items from which to choose — with nine different restaurants. You can also be sure that prices aren't a strain on the family purse. The superb Veal Cacciatore, as prepared by chef/owner Tony Mongiovi at Nino's restaurant, is only one of several Italian specialties on the menu that you should try. And everything is also packaged to take out. Energy blues? Instead of driving, spend Sundays at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel in San Mateo. Chef Bob Michaelschek prepares a lavish buffet that includes a Steamship Round of Beef guaranteed to please any appetite. The brunch is available every Sunday from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. So treat the family — a visit to the famed "castle" is only minutes away.

Nick's "Restaurant Acres" Show Increase

"I cannot tell a lie." Washington's Birthday business at Nick Gust's restaurant in Rockaway Beach was on the double. Even with the gas situation being what it is, business was up this year as compared to last. When planning a dine-out trek, bear in mind that Nick's restaurant, The Moonraker, and Captain Charles (a seafood specialty house) are just 15 minutes from downtown San Mateo. The large bowl of soup you get at Ken's House of Pancakes in Millbrae is a meal in itself. Manager Charley Nafe provides thick chunky cream of chicken, minestrone, all freshly cooked, with your individual loaf of sour dough French bread and plenty of butter. Get the "San Francisco Treat" for either lunch or dinner. Sticks to your ribs! All the ladies receive a special treat in the Golden Rooster Lounge of the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco. Mondays through Thursdays. The treats, which range from two-for-one cocktails on Monday nights to 99 cent Mai Tais on Thursdays, are offered from 5 p.m. on. Continuous entertainment and dancing seven nights a week. If you appreciate fine food with a view, then the fabulous One Up at Hyatt on Union Square, well known for its delectable cuisine, is exactly what you're looking for. Serving lunch, cocktails, and dinner. Setting the musical pace is pianist, John Pietimono.

Vince's Thursday Special, Corned Beef

Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant is back in the restaurant swing of things after a two-day Holiday over Washington's Birthday. and Vince Licata and his crew are on the double seeing that their house specialties are even more special. You can be sure that every Irishman in town shows up on Thursdays for Vince's corned beef and cabbage special, which is served with boiled potato and hot French bread. Friday's Luncheon Special is Baked Fish. Headlining in the Ivory Coast Lounge at Holiday Inn, Belmont, is Tashombe. Lead vocalist is Trudy Johnson, with Terry Saunders being the newest edition to the group. Australia has produced many world famous tennis stars. Aussie know-how has also spilled over to the Down Under on Taylor Street. This popular dining spa has flavored the entire operation in Australian tradition, including menu suggestions, drinks, motif and cordiality. Chalk it all up to management. Don and Jim Summerville, whose flare for the unusual never fails to amaze the diner looking for fine food, service and the unusual. The Putter, Burlingame Plaza, is now under going a major remodeling. The owners say their popular nitery will have a complete new look, with a new name to match.

PENINSULA DEBUT — Laura Lee, who has been performing on the famed New Orleans nitery circuit for the past few years, now presides at the piano bar in the intimate lounge of the new Back Door Steak House at Royal Inn, South San Francisco. Laura can play almost anything and particularly specializes in medleys of famous show tunes.

Television Stars Dine At Phil Lehr's

If you watched "The Hard Breed" segment of the popular TV series "Streets of San Francisco" recently, you may have noticed that some of the scenes were filmed in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco. Since the film was shot, Karl Malden, star of the series has become a regular dinner guest at the luxurious steak house. Mr. Quinn's on Third Avenue has a new policy of featuring live entertainment and dancing on Friday and Saturday nights. Sam Quinn, proprietor, has booked popular Andy Taylor and his trio to debut this new policy. Lunches served daily, Mondays through Fridays. Even Nick Sbarra, co-owner of the New Southern restaurant in South San Francisco, manages to "sneak" away from his daily duties. The other morning he was seen having breakfast at a Millbrae restaurant. Since Nick's busy South City dinner house doesn't serve breakfast, this activity can be "excused."

Bay Meadows Winner In Food and Fun

Bay Meadows continues to feature Harness Racing, now through Sunday, March 3, with gifts galore for the countless race fans. Don't miss the Sunday morning Ramos Fizz Brunch special, served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Group plans are invited and arrangements can be made for special menu treats. Check the advertisement on Bright Lights pages for complete details and be a "winner" in food and fun. Very few successful restaurant owners keep the lengthy working hours of the Leaning Tower's Joe Ercoli. Joe oversees the day shift at this prosperous South San Francisco restaurant, and during the busy luncheon hours he's right by the day plankman pouring the libations. Pete Brallier, owner of Whiskey Hill, in downtown Burlingame, has extended the stint of Mickey Frizzell, who is backed by a versatile trio. As is will appear in concert on Sunday, March 3 and 10.

Back Door Steak House Features T-Bone Steak

Not only is the secret out, but rumors are rampant concerning the new Back Door Steak House, which is "hidden away" in South San Francisco's Royal Inn. Steaks are the specialty of the house, with a huge $5 T-Bone being one of the main attractions. Dinner includes salad, baked potato, bread and trimmings. Adjacent to the new steakery is a plush cocktail lounge which features nightly piano bar entertainment. Mike Hesser, dapper general manager of the Castaway restaurant on Coyote Point, has a wealth of experience in the banquet and catering areas. Party facilities at the Castaway, which include the Yacht Room, can accommodate from 5 to 100 persons. A private bar is also available, if desired. If you need assistance arranging a special menu, Hesser is most obliging. After the recent grand opening celebration at Chen's restaurant in San Carlos, things have settled down to a normal bustle. Owner Jim Chen, a former East Coast restaurant operator, features both lunches and dinners, and offers a plush bar setting for enjoying your favorite cocktails.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Joel Grey took his own sweet time in following up his Academy Award winning film debut in "Cabaret" with another movie role. Naturally, he was offered a dozen Nazi-clown type roles.

But he reacted immediately when Frank Perry offered him the difficult and multi-faceted role of "Man on a Swing" (taken from William Arthur Clark's book, "Girl on the Volkswagen Floor") which was a reporter's account of an actual case.

"When I first read the script, I was frightened by it. I met with a number of professional clairvoyants and one actually convinced me of his power. I was fascinated by the ordinariness of Franklin Wills, the clairvoyant who assists police chief Cliff Robertson in solving a murder case."

The tricks and twists of the plot have you almost believing Wills is the murderer, or an accomplice, depending on how fertile your imagination is and whether you believe in psychic powers. It's a thriller, in any case, full of red herrings and some harrowing suspense scenes. But it's Grey's excellent acting that brings the excitement of the story into focus.

In our interview, he was evasive about certain aspects of the film because he feels the audience should play its own mental games with the plot.

"I was fascinated by the idea of another person in your body, one that propels you. Killer or victim, in trying to find who it was, I wanted to be all those. I also did research on persons who are double personalities.

"In learning self-hypnosis and how to go into a trance, Perry gave me a lot of leeway in allowing me to improvise for the truth of the moment. Material came out that wasn't in the script that people felt was valuable to the film.

"I personally don't believe he was the killer. I know I'm dealing with people who want the ending to be pat but it can't be so."

Did he think that films of occult and supernatural were on the upswing?

"I would suspect so. 'Don't Look Now' was produced on an economic level. But they're calling out all the demons now. I haven't seen 'The Exorcist' because I'm no masochist."

The rigors of the role are the kind of challenge Grey's looking for to round out his career. He was bitterly disappointed not to have gotten the role of "Lenny" but admits the director had "Dustin Hoffman in mind all the time." And he was considered "too tall" to play Billy Rose in "Funny Lady."

"There's no reason to work with material that isn't first rate. But I do hate to know that other people got parts I turned down.

"I'm originally an actor. Music came second to me, so I had no misgivings about doing a non-musical film."

He closed at the Fairmont Hotel last week and will be playing the Waldorf-Astoria this week when the film premieres in New York. Then he'll take his family on a vacation before opening in Las Vegas in April.

Incidentally, the real clairvoyant who assisted on the case is still alive and living in the east. The inference in the film is that he's either clairvoyant or psychotic and Grey upholds that image with meticulous energy and bizarre behavior.

Edgar Cayce and Peter Hurok have been instrumental in assisting police in their investigation of crimes, the Boston Strangler notably, by their psychic powers. At one point, the film was also titled "The Gift of Franklin Wills."

HA Guild to Offer Mass

The members of the Holy Angels Women's Guild will join to participate in the celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in Holy Angels Church, March 3 at 9 a.m.

Primary purpose of the Guild is the spiritual growth of the members. Attendance at the Mass on Sunday will present members the opportunity to partake of the Eucharist as a body and to pray for their needs and those of our community.

A breakfast will be held following Mass at the Ranch Inn in Serramonte. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Patrick Callagy at 992-2353.

Brisbane to Face Cutbacks

To curb deficit spending, the Brisbane School Board Feb. 19 notified six certificated employees they would possibly not be rehired in June.

The action was taken on the recommendation of school Supt. Dr. Robert J. Lloyd, who called it "a legal precaution."

Unless employees are notified they are being considered for such action by March 15, the district is bound by law to rehire them in June for the coming school year.

It had been anticipated only four teachers would be considered for release to balance the district's budget. However, Board Trustee Michael P. Lyons asked that the motion be amended to include two additional personnel from the district's support services categories.

He then voted against the amended motion, asking that other areas be explored before action is taken to release employees.

Dr. Lloyd said the board's action would, in effect, give him five months to seek alternate means of "finding" monies to balance his upcoming year's budget.

Lloyd blamed SB 90, which puts a damper on local taxes, and a declining student population for the financial bind the district is now in.

Had SB 90 been in effect two years ago the district would have already dipped into its undistributed reserve fund for some $219,000, according to Lloyd.

The Brisbane School District has some 750 students and 47 certificated employees. Salaries consumed about 80 per cent, or $852,098, of the district's $1.5 million budget last year.

"This is the most difficult decision we've ever faced. We're going to do our damndest (to find other ways of balancing the budget)," trustee George Petropoulos said.

Petropoulos, a five-year veteran of the school board, echoed Dr. Lloyd's statement that the notification "is not a final determination."

Agreement For BART Parking OKd

Verbal agreement on the leasing of a two and a half acre lot near the Bay Area Rapid Transit station in Daly City has been reached between city officials and the property owners.

City Mgr. David Rowe informed the City Council Tuesday that the lot, owned by Walter A. Prehn, could provide space for the parking of 226 cars.

It was anticipated that a written agreement can be prepared by the owners, their representative, attorney George Choppelas, and Daly City's negotiator, Donald Gardener, within 10 days, Rowe said.

Talks concerning possible use of the land for additional parking for BART commuters has been on-going for the past few months, it was learned.

The area is within a half-block of the station, adjacent to the Junipero Serra Freeway, St. Charles Street and Alameda Avenue.

Monthly lease on the land will be $1,200, and the city would agree to pay all taxes and utilities, if any, on the site during the five year agreement period, Rowe said.

An escape clause lets the city out of the contract if all necessary permits cannot be obtained — principally from San Francisco which controls access roads into the site.

Rowe is also expected to offer the council alternatives concerning parking fees.

D.C. Student Sent to Jail

A college honor student and father of two children soon will begin a one year term in San Mateo County Jail for possessing and selling cocaine.

Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Ragan Feb. 19 issued the sentence to Nicholas David Zlatanovich, 30, of Daly City. He pleaded guilty to possession and sale of cocaine.

But the judge gave Zlatanovich until March 12 to surrender. And if he decides to appeal an earlier decision by Ragan not to suppress certain evidence, then a further stay of execution could be ordered.

The judge also gave Zlatanovich a suspended prison term, which means if he violates probation during the next five years he could go straight to prison. Additionally, Zlatanovich was ordered not to carry firearms or mingle with known narcotic users.

According to probation officer C. F. Cadigan, Zlatanovich made arrangements to sell three ounces of cocaine at $1,000 an ounce to undercover agents last August. The dope could be worth nearly $10,000 on the streets.

"He indicated he is not normally involved in transactions of this magnitude and has more or less functioned on the level of helping friends out with small quantities of marijuana, cocaine or pills," Cadigan said.

He added, though, that Zlatanovich "obviously knows where to go and who to see to initiate a drug transaction of some consequence." Several police authorities agreed, and contended that because of the large quantity of cocaine Zlatanovich "must be very well known to the drug community."

Cadigan noted that the defendant is a "B" student in the area of hotel and restaurant management at San Francisco City College.

The probation officer told Judge Ragan, "I feel the defendant is salvageable and not an immediate threat to society."

Zlatanovich was one of four persons rounded up throughout the county by narcotic agents last August.

According to Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Westinghouse,

Kelton A. Robertson, 19, of Redwood City, recently was sentenced to 30 days in county jail for possession of marijuana. The prosecutor said Robertson assisted authorities by providing information which led to the seizure of 40 kilos of marijuana.

Two other defendants, Lawrence M. Argue of Redwood City and Robert V. Kennedy of San Mateo, recently pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine and possession of marijuana, respectively, according to Westinghouse. Each is awaiting sentencing.

Colma Veterinarian Elected to Board

Dr. David R. Barnett, long-time veterinary practitioner in Colma, has been elected as a member of the Board of Governors of the 2500-member, state-wide organization, for a one year term, effective this month.

Dr. Barnett, one of 15 members of the new ruling body of the 85 year old medical society, will represent the counties of Santa Clara, San Mateo, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Marin, Sonoma, Alameda and San Francisco.

The new ruling body was

formed this year to replace the Executive Committee concept of government, and will provide direct election of governors by regional districts. They will have the power to make immediate rulings rather than wait for concurrence of the House of Delegates.

The special assignment for Dr. Barnett, in addition to representing his counties, will be as liaison member to the Committee on Environmental Health and Ecology and as Chairman of the CVMA Liaison Committee to the State Board of Examiners.

Dr. Barnett obtained his degree from Washington State University. He is a member of AVMA and is affiliated with the American Animal Hospital Association. Dr. Barnett has served as Peninsula V.M.A. delegate to the CVMA House of Delegates since 1968 and has been the liaison officer from the CVMA to the Board of Examiners in Veterinary Medicine.

He is the author of a weekly column in the Redwood City Tribune entitled "Fur, Feathers, and Fins." He has applied for 1976 membership in the California Academy of Veterinary Medicine.

Lease In SSF Is Rapped

Opposition surfaced last week to consideration by the City of South San Francisco to lease the former Bank of America building on Grand Avenue for a senior citizens center.

The council voted to defer a decision on the center for at least two weeks, asking the city staff to meet with downtown businessmen and senior citizens to work out an accommodation agreeable to all.

Opposition was voiced at a Parking Authority meeting Wednesday by several Grand Avenue merchants, who objected to a non-business use at a major intersection. They complained that the senior citizen center would bring added congestion, and would increase parking problem.

A report by South San Francisco Police provided ammunition for both sides. It showed the intersection of Linden and Grand Avenues to be the scene of many "tender-bender" accidents. At the same time, it showed that on the busiest day, Friday, only 160 out of 180 stalls in public parking places were used.

The Parking Authority voted to allow removal of two parking meters on the 300 block of Linden Avenue for a white-curb loading zone — providing the City Council approved renting the former bank for a senior citizen center.

Wednesday night, Nello Scandri, hardware store owner who is leading the opposition, simply requested that the council grant two to three more weeks for more facts to be garnered.

"There are quite a few senior citizens who are not for it (the center)," he said. "Unloading in a white zone is not the best situation for a senior citizen center."

City Mgr. Ed Alario, in answer to councilmen's questions, noted that there are many possible sites for the center in the industrial areas of the city, but no other ones in the middle of the city. The Orange Park clubhouse and Hillside Recreation Center, where the seniors currently meet, are both available, but far too small.

The Bank of America, which has tried for over two years to sell its old building after it moved into a modern drive-in bank nearby, has agreed to a $20,000 a year rental for three years, with option to renew. In addition, it would cost approximately $25,000 to convert it to a senior citizen center.

The need for a center to house the city's elderly was heightened when the council suddenly decided to vacate the old Magnolia Center where the senior citizens had been meeting for many years.

Fern Patrick, the senior citizens' leader, said she had no objection to a delay, in order to gather more facts, but that the group was having a difficult time using the tiny Hillside Recreation Center, with just one large room available.

"We've been living out of boxes," she declared. Meanwhile, no further progress was made last week in finding a site for the Parks and Recreation Department — now crammed into the Orange Park Recreation Center.

Candidates Give Views

Four Hopefuls Vie in Colma

Four candidates are seeking two council seats in Colma March 5. Two are incumbents.

All candidates have been given the opportunity to join in a forum to express their views in this space provided by The Post.

received from Rene Valerga, 448 E. St., incumbent. Pictures are not available for Elsie Campbell and Eugene Daneluz.

Running unopposed are City Clerk Blanche Lagomarsino, 490 D St., Treasurer Mary V. Ryan, P.O. Box 474. They also have not responded to a request for photographs or statements.

Incumbent Raymond D. Ottoboni, 65, of 435 F St. has been a councilman for 22 years and mayor six times. He is a retired nurseryman and florist. Ottoboni served as chairman of the planning commission, the Colma Road Committee, was member of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors and the Mayors' Committee, North County Council of Cities. Last year he won out over a recall campaign, 124 to 60 votes.

Ottoboni's statement: I have spent 22 years serving the people of Colma as mayor and councilman. I have served honestly and faithfully and believe the almost two-to-one majority in turning back a recall election in October serves as testimony of the belief the people have in me.

Among the things I have worked for and achieved:

— Kept city free from property taxes.

— Improved police and fire protection of Colma with additional patrols.

— Encouraged development of Serra Shopping Center (GEMCO) to bring in sales taxes for further improvements to the city.

— Personal contact with Board of Supervisors brought improved roads and traffic control on Hillside and Junipero Serra Blvds.

— Saved Junipero Serra for Colma.

— Made motion to clean up Colma Creek to alleviate flooding.

— Worked for installation of sewers and fire hydrants on Old Mission Road.

— Packed by the business community and several city and county officials.

Since my last election I have retired from the florist business and can devote full time to city business. I wish only to serve the people more.

Daneluz, 42, lives at 1681 Mission Road, is a teamster by occupation. He is a member of the Francis Drake Masonic Lodge No. 376, F. & A.M. and the Construction Teamsters' Local 216. He made a bid for office in 1964 and 1972.

Daneluz' statement:

I feel that this is one of the most important elections, one which directly affects the residents, businessmen and the cemeteries in the Town of Colma.

As you have read or heard, many of the citizens and businessmen of Colma are presently in conflict with the Colma Police Department and its public relation policies. If I am elected to the Town Council, I will do my best to heal the wounds that have been inflicted on our town. I pledge to work with all the businessmen and the residents toward solving our difficulties.

One of the greatest needs in our town presently is a safe place for our children to play. A town recreation area is badly needed. We are also in dire need of updating our City government building so that we can expand our much-needed public services. With our present cash reserves of over $500,000.00 plus an annual sales tax revenue amounting to over $373,000.00 (increasing with new businesses being established), I see no need for any city taxes on real properties or businesses to reach these goals. If any of this is achieved, I know all will benefit.

If given the chance to represent the Town of Colma, I will work to answer the needs of our community. As a member of the Town Council, I can and will help to initiate the many programs that I feel will benefit everyone now and in the future.

Mrs. Elsie E. Campbell, 60, is a newcomer to Colma politics. A resident of 445 E St., she has served as Heart Fund drive captain for two years.

Mrs. Campbell's statement:

"I am running for council for the Town of Colma because I feel as a housewife with a business education I have the time and the 'know how' to serve the citizens of my town well.

"As a homeowner, I am interested in keeping taxes as low as possible.

"I have always had an interest in the problems and issues that come before the council and have attended the council meetings regularly during the past few years to keep up with what has been before the councilmen.

"I have owned and operated my own business in the past, making me aware of problems. The council can help the business people of Colma with as well as the citizens.

"I feel being a housewife would be an advantage to me in serving the people of Colma, because I would be available when a problem arose."

Press for Management and Teacher Separation Continues

The American Federation of Teachers Tuesday continued its press for a separation of "management" and teachers in its negotiations in the Jefferson High School District.

Trustees, however, remained unyielding in its stance that Supt. Edward D. Morgan is the district's sole management person.

The AFT, according to Lou Silberman, the JUHSD chapter president, wants all persons in supervisory and other positions, unrelated directly to teaching, placed in "management."

More specifically, he wants the present Association of Jefferson Administrators (AJA) removed from representation on the Certificated Employees Council (CEC).

Silberman said in a news release that the CEC was created by the Winton Act, wherein teachers meet and confer with the board on working conditions.

Last year the State Legislature passed the Dent Bill, which told school districts that they must designate management persons in the district, he said.

"The bill defined management as people who did not teach and people whose prime duty was supervision of certificated staff," the news release stated.

The trustees, pointed out Board chairman Jane Powell, is following advice from the district attorney's office that they need select only Morgan as "management."

Silberman called it "ludicrous" that, for example, Assistant Supt. Harold Tonini sat at the same CEC negotiating table representing Morgan, while Dr. Robert Bush, Jefferson High School principal, sat on the opposite side "representing Dr. Tonini." Bush is the current AJA representative.

Redwood City Arson Fire Is Investigated

Sheriff's and Menlo Park Fire District officials are investigating an arson fire early Sunday in which flammable liquid was poured against the front door of a bar south of Redwood City and set afire.

The blaze did an estimated $500 damage to the front of the Wagon Wheel bar, 2920 Middlefield Road, just three blocks from the Mug bar where a fire bomb was thrown into the establishment Nov. 25, 1972, fatally burning a Redwood City man and critically injuring his wife, Francis L. Thornton, of Redwood City, subsequently was convicted of the crime and is now in state prison.

Sunday's fire was discovered at 4:55 a.m. by Atherton Police Sgt. Gary Evans, who happened to be passing the bar in a patrol car. He radioed for the fire department.

Sheriff's Deputy William Buchalter said the front door of the establishment was engulfed in flames when he reached the scene. He said there was a smell of gasoline or kerosene in the area and that there was a stream of burning liquid extending from the door across the sidewalk to the gutter.

Buchalter kicked in a side door and entered the building to be sure that no one was inside.

The owner, Ronald R. Johnson, of Menlo Park, told the deputy that he had left between 2:30 and 3 a.m. after cleaning up.

Johnson said that he had some difficulty with a party of two men and three women when they objected to leaving when the bar closed at 2 a.m. One of the men, who he did not recognize, told him, "We'll come back tomorrow and tear this place up," the owner related.

Program Sought

Pressure is building to implement some kind of comprehensive family life-sex education program for all schools in the San Mateo City School District.

After listening to a presentation on this topic from a variety of district sources at their meeting Tuesday night, the district's board of trustees voted unanimously to have Supt. David Thomas establish a staff-citizens committee to consider details of such a program.

All of the trustees expressed an interest in some form of family life-sex education program but there was no unanimity about content, manner of possible presentation, grade levels which would have the program and a range of other differences.

The committee will grapple with those matters, it was stressed.

During the presentation by district spokesmen, all of whom urged the board to adopt a program for every school in the district, it was pointed out that, as things now stand in San Mateo and Foster City, schools vary widely in their efforts to teach students fundamentals about family life and sex education.

Principals of Baywood School and neighboring Borel Middle School, both in San Mateo, told the board that programs there were both extensive and well-received by students and parents.

According to statistics offered Tuesday, 98 per cent of the fifth grade pupils at Baywood are taking the school's family life-sex education course.

At Borel, it was stated that only two per cent of the parents have refused to allow their children to take a similar course there.

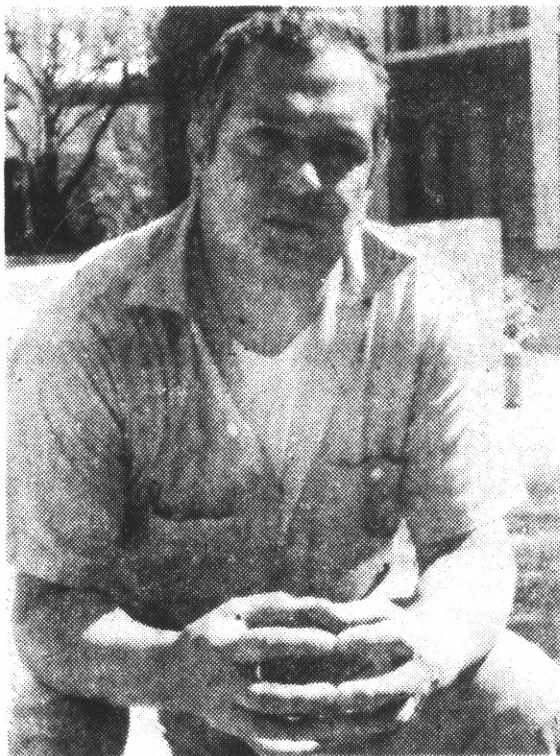

Most spokesmen favored incorporating such a program into the schools' regular curriculum.

Ampex

Ampex Corp. Tuesday reported net earnings from continuing operations for the first nine months of its current fiscal year of $2,778,000, equal to 26 cents per share, which compares to a loss of $2,122,000 and a loss per share of 20 cents in the same period of the previous year.

This represents an improvement of $4.9 million in net earnings from continuing operations.

Mexican Dancers to Arrive A Favor Is Repaid

VINCE RASCON

On his last visit in June, 1973, to the University of Sonora at Hermosillo, Mexico, College of San Mateo ceramics instructor Vince Rascon was asked by the head of the university's drama department, "What can we do to repay you for all you've done for us?"

Rascon, who has built a kiln and glass furnace and conducted workshops for the students during his six visits to the school, said he would like to see the university's famed dancers come to San Mateo.

But he never dreamed his request would be taken seriously because of the financial and other problems involved.

Next month, 25 dancers from the university will come here and give three concerts in the county. All performances will be free of charge and open to the public.

On Mar. 6, the troupe will give a concert at Half Moon Bay. The next day they will perform at 10 a.m. at San Mateo High School and that evening will be seen at the Daly City City Hall.

Rascon's good friend, Eduardo Estrella, drama department director, will accompany the dancers. The dancers are making the nearly 1,000-mile trip by bus — and at their own expense.

Food, lodging and transportation will be furnished for the dancers during their stay by members of Rascon's ceramics class at CSM.

Pair Held

A 21-year-old youth and his 20-year-old female companion, both from Hayward, were booked on a variety of charges after San Mateo Police found his compact foreign sedan stalled in the westbound lane at 19th Avenue and Norfolk St. at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Charged with driving under the influence of drugs, possession of drugs and paraphernalia, resisting arrest, and damage to city property was Gregory Paul Guzman of Hayward.

Charged with being under the influence of drugs and possession of paraphernalia was Marsha Catherine Buckingham, Hayward.

Say, What's This?

How to shake up a police department on a quiet Sunday afternoon.

Walk in carrying 30 sticks of dynamite.

That is just what a man did in San Carlos shortly before 2 p.m. Sunday.

The man, a San Carlos man who requested that his name not be used, told Policeman Michael Pedone that he found the dynamite in the backyard of his home and had no idea where it came from or how it got there.

Pedone, following an apprehensive gulp, summoned Sgt. Mike Rokitsky.

Rokitsky contacted the Army bomb disposal squad from the Presidio in San Francisco.

Escorted by a San Carlos fire truck, the squad placed the dynamite in a van and drove it to an isolated area of Redwood Shores near the bay beyond Marine World.

There, the squad doubled the dynamite with diesel oil and burned it.

Police said they will investigate in an effort to determine the source of the dynamite.

Candidate

Herbert Rhodes, East Palo Alto municipal councilman, has changed his mind about running for the new 21st Assembly District and will seek the Democratic nomination as a candidate for Congress in the 12th Congressional District extending from Redwood City to Santa Clara.

Rhodes announced his candidacy Friday. He will be opposed in the June 4 primary election by Gary Gilmore, mayor of Santa Clara.

Rhodes, a personnel administrator at Stanford University, was a candidate for election to the Fourth District seat on the County Board of Supervisors in 1972.

County Employee Sentenced

A county employee who admitted bilking a retired San Mateo steelworker out of his house, money and bonds was sentenced to 90 days in jail this week by San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Regan.

Alan W. Dreesbach, 29, also was ordered to pay the victim, Roy Hruska, $1000 for expenses incurred in the case. Dreesbach lost his job with the county's Department of Public Health and Welfare after his arrest last fall.

According to court officials, Dreesbach used his official position to get Hruska to turn over his house to Dreesbach's girlfriend, Christine Tsouo, and establish a joint bank account.

He also arranged for Hruska to be placed in a retirement home, according to Deputy D. A. Aram Sevastian.

Judge Regan said, "In my own mind, I think your girlfriend was more involved than you were. I believe she talked you into it." Charges against Miss Tsouo, 29, of San Francisco, were dismissed.

Dreesbach, given until March 1 to surrender at the county jail in Redwood City, pleaded guilty to grand theft in the case. He also was placed on five years probation.

Project

An estimated $10 million executive office project consisting of five buildings, including one 11-story structure is proposed for the southeast corner of Bayshore and 19th Avenue freeways, today reported Community Development Director Richard Coleman.

TWO NEW FEATURES IN The Times

Look for them every Saturday in The Times Weekend Magazine!

Dr. Suann Hosie, a graduate of Ontario, Canada, Veterinary College, and currently Head Veterinarian at the Northern Peninsula Emergency Clinic, San Mateo, will author a new column, Pet Clinic, in The Times Weekend magazine. The column will answer questions about pets and wild animals submitted by Times readers.

Dr. Hosie has a wide range of interest in all forms of animal life, both domestic and wild. Her professional advice to readers' inquiries will cover animal training, diseases, veterinary services, animal behavior, and questions of a general nature. Her special interests in the field of veterinary medicine are: geriatric medicine, feline blood diseases, animal behavior and intensive care. She says that she enjoys finding answers to difficult questions about pets and wild animals.

So, if you have a pet, or if you just enjoy animals, you will find this a very interesting and informative column. If you have any questions about pets or wild animals you would like answered, mail your questions to: Pet Clinic, Box 1962, San Mateo, California 94401.

Ralph and Terry Kovel are a husband and wife team who author the column Know Your Antiques, a new addition to The Times Weekend magazine. Among their credits as authorities in the field of antiquing are: six published books on antiques; their own Nationally televised TV show, Know Your Antiques; and a syndicated newspaper column which appears in over 150 newspapers nationwide.

Know Your Antiques is an illustrated column complete with a featured antique, questions and answers, and a book review.

"We think of the column as a guide for the beginner with hints of where to start. Since everyone is a beginner at some phase of antique collecting, we get them all sooner or later. Even antique dealers and antique investors who protect their money with knowledge learn something. Writing Know Your Antiques is a constant research job and we learn, too," say the Kovels.

If you are interested in antiques, here is an opportunity to get the experts' opinion.

'Special' Signs Illegal in SSF

By JOYE OGRDOWSKI
Temporary signs advertising special purchases on commodities, seen in the windows of many super markets and drug stores throughout South San Francisco, are not permitted by city ordinance.

This was one of four major discrepancies noted in the Planning Commission's review of Drug King's application for replacement of business signs.

The request calls for a 200 square foot roof-mounted sign to replace the existing 112 square foot on-building sign, and a 135 square foot free-standing sign at 1059 El Camino Real.

Neal Martin, the city planner, indicated that existing signs do not conform to ordinance guidelines and that the proposed signs exceed the maximum area allowed.

"The present free-standing sign was not constructed in accordance with the use permit previously approved by the Planning Commission, in that a raised landscape planter proposed for the base of the sign never was installed," he said.

"The Drug King facility does not have a physical frontage on El Camino Real and the existing roof sign is located over the adjacent tenant's establishment," he said.

Martin also pointed out that the proposed pole and roof signs exceed the 150 square foot maximum area permitted by ordinance by 185 square feet. "The allowable sign area was derived by dividing the maximum area permitted, 300 square feet, by the percentage of gross floor area the applicant maintains, 50 per cent," he said.

Jim Livingston, vice president of the J & B Sign Co., and representative for the drug store chain, justified each of the four points, corrected misconstrued information, and finally won the approval of the commission.

Directing his first statement to the free-standing sign, he said, "That sign was put up 15 years ago by the former owner. In the past year another company has taken over the whole chain."

He said, "Someone did not enforce the planter requirement strongly enough then," he said, and indicated that the present owners should not be held liable for this now.

"The free-standing sign now occupies an area equivalent to one parking space, about 9 feet by 20 feet," he said. "It's tight for the big tractor-trailer trucks backing into the loading area."

He also speculated that people who have been shopping at the center for years may not adjust to the addition right away. "We would have people banging their tires into the planter boxes, and there could be an accident," he said.

Livingston was not aware that temporary window signs did not conform to city ordinance.

"Every type of retail business with a window in it follows this practice," he said.

Contrary to fact, the staff drew its recommendations on the assumption that Gail's Coffee Shop, adjacent to Drug King, was owned by a separate tenant. Livingston informed the commission that "Gail's is a department within the Drug King store. We do not lease it out; it's ours," he said.

Director Appointed In SSF

Stanley F. Bara was unanimously appointed director of the newly created Administrative Services Department by the South San Francisco City Council last week.

Bara has served as accounting manager for the City of Oakland for two years, after having served as finance director for Montebello in Los Angeles County. Before that, he was employed at Norwalk, Calif., where he was director of finance, city treasurer and assistant city administrator.

He was finance officer of Santa Clara for four years.

In his new post, he will be the city finance officer. In addition, the directors of four other city divisions will report to him — purchasing, city garage, building maintenance and communications.

Bara's main task will be to serve other city departments, rather than the public directly, although many will get to know him as he collects license payments and other bills, and makes city purchases.

Bara was born 48 years ago in Springfield, Mass.

He was graduated from the American International College of Massachusetts and attended the University of Santa Clara and the University of Southern California.

He will be bringing his wife and two daughters to South San Francisco with him.

Bara has served as president of the California Society of Municipal Finance Officers.

Meet Set On Flooding

Notices went out last week for a public meeting on San Pedro Creek flooding, to be held at Vallemar Elementary School, March 7, at 7:30 p.m.

The notices were sent from the City of Pacifica and the Army Corps of Engineers, who are working out a resolution to the problem that has plagued many homes and businesses in the Linda Mar area since the birth of the city.

Contrary to former practice, the Army Corps is taking all the environmental aspects of the proposed project in account, including the visual aspects of the creek and the welfare of the trout native to the creek.

Copies of a Citizen Information Bulletin, outlining all possible alternatives, have gone out to a random group of residents, for their comment. All those who wish copies of the bulletin may contact the city engineer's office.
